GLASS-STUDED BRIDGE RAILING — A car driven by Paul A. McMurrin, Greenfield, struck this concrete bridge post, on Ohio 41-S, cracking it and littering the top with glass chips from the shattered car windows. McMurrin was thrown into the back of his station wagon where his son, Wesley, was sleeping. Both were pinned in the wreckage. In the background is the McMurrin auto and the investigating Sheriff's deputy, Sgt. William Crooks. Story on page 16.

Soviet chief hopeful of arms meeting Kissinger, Brezhnev talk

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today opened talks with Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the Communist party chief said he was optimistic about prospects for another Soviet-American agreement to limit nuclear arms.

Kissinger hoped during his three days of talks in the Kremlin to set the stage of a new nuclear weapons treaty President Nixon could sign on a visit to Moscow next summer.

Asked by newsmen if he expected to reach another arms agreement with Nixon then, Brezhnev replied: "I take an optimistic view of that. We have made a very good beginning on that process."

He said relations between the two superpowers "are good" but "there is much work to do at this time."

Asked to characterize the situation with regard to East-West detente, he said the European security conference in Geneva is "dragging its feet a little" because "the opponents of detente are introducing petty matters that have no bearing on detente."

Although he was speaking of the Geneva conference, it was assumed that he was referring to the Soviet government's problems with the U. S. Congress over trade and Jewish emigration as well as to the Western demand at the security conference for freer flow of peoples and ideas. The principal question the American secretary of state and the Soviet Communist party chief faced was how to work out a deal limiting development of missiles carrying multiple warheads (MIRV).

The groundwork was laid in early February when Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko visited Washington, and in talks with the Soviet Ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who accompanied Kissinger from Washington and worked with him aboard the secretary's Air Force jet.

Dobrynin at one point in the flight beamingly assured reporters he had high hopes for a breakthrough. Senior American officials were more guarded, but they encouraged speculation that Kissinger's trip would be a success.

Both sides were going to try to make "a conceptual breakthrough," said one of the officials.

For four weeks American and Soviet negotiators in Geneva have been clearing away technical underbrush. Differences between the State and Defense Departments on how to approach the Russians in this second round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) were resolved weeks ago, an official said. But Kissinger will submit whatever can be worked out here to the National Security Council after he returns to Washington at the end of the week.

His second major topic in Moscow is the Middle East.

Kissinger hopes to get the Russians to influence the Syrian government to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel providing for an initial Israeli withdrawal considerably short of Syria's long-range goal: return of all of the Golan Heights territory Israel captured during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Anti-busing bill awaits House action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antibusing legislation, backed by President Nixon in an education speech Saturday, seemed headed for House passage this week.

Public financing of election campaigns was expected to share the congressional spotlight, with debate slated in the Senate.

The new effort to curb busing for school desegregation purposes will be made when the House starts voting on a federal aid to education bill.

The measure provides for a three-year, $18-million extension of aid to elementary and secondary schools, with the formula for distribution of the money in dispute.

The move to curb school busing drew backing from President Nixon Saturday in a radio broadcast.

Nixon termed the House bill "an important first step" in meeting his educational goals and urged citizen support for administration-backed programs to consolidate federal education grants.

"You understand better than any federal official what is best for your children," Nixon said.

The House has proposed consolidating seven grant programs into two, a move supported by the administration.

Nixon said parents value neighborhood schools and are "naturally concerned when the courts, acting on the basis of complicated plans drawn up by far-away officials in Washington, D.C., order children bused out of their neighborhoods."

The antibusing amendment, similar to a bill passed by the House in 1972 but killed in a Senate filibuster, makes busing a last resort to be used only after other desegregation measures have failed.

Nixon also called for Congress to provide $1.3 billion to finance basic education opportunity grants for schooling beyond high school.

The grant program would provide up to $1,400 a year to needy students. It was authorized in 1973 but never funded.

Senate debate will center on a sweeping campaign reform bill with provisions for using tax funds to finance presidential and congressional election races.

Ceremonies scheduled at 11 a.m.

Rt. 35 bypass opens tomorrow

Preparations have been completed for the formal opening of the U.S. 35 bypass around Washington C. H. Tuesday morning.

The 6.1-mile bypass, which will alter the city's traffic pattern drastically, will be launched with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the westbound lanes of U.S. 35, immediately east of Ohio 753-S.

The ceremony will include an address by J. Phillip Richley, director of the Ohio Department of Transportation. Bernard B. Hurst, deputy director, will serve as master of ceremonies.

City and county officials, plus state legislators and those persons involved in the planning, design and construction of the project will be attending. The public is invited.

THE BYPASS begins at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Ohio 753-S, just southeast of the Washington C. H. corporation limits, extends five miles around the south edge of the city and terminates at Palmer Road.

The project, constructed by the J. J. Blazer Construction Co., Wheelersburg, Ohio, began March 7, 1972 and had an original target completion date of July 31, 1974. The diligent efforts on the part of the contractor to expedite the work is allowing the improvement to be dedicated four months before the contract completion date.

The cost for construction of the project is $6,200,000. Total cost including construction, engineering and right-of-way will top $8 million.

A luncheon, sponsored by the J. J. Blazer Construction Co., and the Ohio Contractors Association, Columbus, will be held in the Terrace Lounge immediately following the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Nixon subpoena time extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the request of the White House, special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski today gave President Nixon four more days to respond to a subpoena demanding additional Watergate evidence.

The subpoena, issued March 15, called for a response today.

But, over the weekend James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, asked Jaworski for more time and the prosecutor extended the return date to Friday.

In a brief statement, Jaworski's office said, "In agreeing to the White House request, Mr. Jaworski emphasized the grand jury's need for the material covered under this subpoena."

The prosecutor's office refused to give details about the material subpoenaed.

And, in a related matter, lawyers for two former White House aides said they will not go to the Supreme Court to try to block transmission of the secret grand jury report on President Nixon's Watergate role to the House impeachment inquiry.

"We've just decided that we've stated our objections and our warnings as forcefully as we can and the government has decided to take the risk," said John Bray, who represents Gordon C. Strachan.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for former presidential chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, declined to comment on the decision not to appeal.

An appeals court had given them until 5 p.m. today to carry the matter to the Supreme Court when it acted Thursday upholding the decision to give the report to the House inquiry.

Haldeman and Strachan were among seven persons indicted March 1 in connection with the Watergate cover-up. President Nixon had not opposed delivery of the report to the House committee.

Deputy presidential Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren refused last week to say whether the President planned to comply with the prosecutor's subpoena. He said it was being handled routinely by White House lawyers.

A spokesman for Jaworski said the subpoena did not involve the Watergate cover-up or White House plumbers cases, in which indictments recently were returned.

That means the material sought probably relates to investigations of the ITT antitrust settlement, dairy industry political contributions or the 18.5-minute erasure found on one subpoenaed tape.

If the President refuses to comply with the subpoena, Jaworski could go to court to ask for an order directing the President to turn over the subpoenaed material.

The White House, meanwhile, has denied a published report that it would give to the House impeachment inquiry tapes of 42 presidential conversations the committee has been trying to obtain. The report appeared in the Los Angeles Times, but Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said no decision had been made to provide additional tapes to the committee.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—A report obtained from court records indicated the nation's largest dairy cooperative gave financial support to Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., in his 1972 presidential bid. The report showed the funds came from Associated Milk Producers Inc. Mills said he was unaware that corporate funds were used, which is illegal.

—A source close to the investigation said congressional investigators doubt that a key document which could solve President Nixon's single biggest tax problem "ever existed." The source said the White House has been unable to find the original deed giving the national archives a collection of Nixon's papers valued at $576,000. Nixon has claimed tax deductions for much of the amount. Frank DeMarco, a Nixon tax lawyer, said the original deed was destroyed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unfolding story of the milk-fund affair has turned up new irregularities in the 1972 campaign finances of several Democrats, including Rep. Wilbur D. Mills and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative, paid $137,000 in corporation funds to help buy costly computer-mail lists for Humphrey, Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas, Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma, and the Iowa Democratic party of Sen. Harold Hughes.

A Watergate grand jury has heard testimony about the payments. Federal law prohibits use of corporation funds to assist campaigns.

See improved gasoline flow

By The Associated Press

Tourist industry officials are keeping their fingers crossed that the lifting of the Arab oil embargo will mean an upswing in travel.

"There's a feeling that people can plan at least limited vacations this summer," said Ken Miller, president of the Idaho Automobile Association. He said reports from gasoline dealers "are the most optimistic we've had for several months."

Officials noted that the oil will take several months to flow through the pipeline to the United States in the wake of last Monday's announcement that the embargo was over.

But they indicated that things won't be as bad as they were during January and February. An Associated Press survey showed that more gasoline stations were open over the weekend than on any Sunday since early December when President Nixon urged voluntary closings to conserve energy.

Nixon said last Tuesday that he was lifting that ban and Federal Energy Chief William E. Simon said tourism was a major reason for the action.

Simon said on Sunday that the sales ban "has had a significant impact on our conservation ... but we have an industry that's critical to many of the states and that is tourism and leisure industry and this is a way to safely assist them."

He said that although the United States still doesn't have enough gasoline to meet the demand, April allocations would be "significantly larger" than the March allotments.

Simon, who was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said specific allotments would be announced later this week. But he added that the states probably would get about 90 per cent of the amount they received in 1972 — up 5 per cent from this month.

reportedly used company funds to pay salaries and expenses, including apartment and furniture rent, for two key workers in the draft-Mills campaign in the last months of 1971 and the early weeks of 1972, before the Arkansas Democrat announced himself as an active presidential candidate. The payments are outlined in a report commissioned by the cooperative's board, which was obtained from court records.

According to officials of the Minneapolis computer-mail firm of Valentine, Sherman and Associates, the milk producers paid:

—$50,000 for a list of rural Iowans. The Iowa Democratic party, which requested the list, paid $10,000. Sen. Hughes said he and state party officials didn't know the money was from company funds.

Coffee Break . .

WEATHER STATISTICS for Fayette County extend back only a few decades, but the early-spring cold snap which arrived Saturday night with nearly six inches of blinding snow and icy temperatures which plummeted to 9 degrees early Monday, must have established a few records as it did elsewhere in Ohio . . .

Coyt A. Stookey, official observer for the city, reported a maximum temperature of 27 degrees Sunday with a low of 11 . . . And that was the end of much of the early-blooming foliage . . .

There was little to remind Fayette Countians of the newborn vernal season Sunday except the birds . . . A short trip through seven townships turned up flocks of killdeer, numerous meadowlarks and bluebirds, scores of robins and song sparrows, a few crows and hundreds of blackbirds and starlings, as well as some unidentified species . . .

But the Belle Aire Bird Watcher reports the seasonal "prize" to date — a purple finch at her patio feeder . . .

ARCHIBALD WILLARD, who nearly 100 years ago painted the murals on the top floor of the Fayette County Courthouse, left an unexpected legacy of embarrassment for the U.S. Postmaster General and of feuding between the residents of Marblehead, Mass., and Cleveland, Ohio . . .

With the nation's 200th birthday coming up, efforts are afoot to have Willard's most famous painting, "The Spirit of '76", as the design for a bicentennial commemorative stamp . . .

But Willard didn't paint just one "Spirit of '76" . . . It is believed that there are as many as 12 versions done by the artists . . . Marblehead has one in its town hall . . . Cleveland's city hall has another, the Western Reserve Historical Society another — and the list goes on and on . . . Tony Boyle trial gets under way

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle walked slowly into a heavily guarded courtroom today to stand trial on charges he ordered the 1969 assassination of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

The proceedings began precisely at 10 a.m. with 35 prospective jurors waiting to be interviewed by opposing counsel and Common Pleas Court Judge Francis Catania.

A total of 350 prospective jurors were summoned. The others waited in other courtrooms to be interviewed later.

The 72-year-old Boyle, flown here Sunday from the Springfield, Mo., federal prison hospital where he is serving three years for illegal use of union funds, is charged by the state with three counts of murder.

Thin and pale, and flanked by federal marshals, Boyle broke into a thin smile and waved as he spotted his wife, Ethel, and daughter, Antoinette, sitting in the third row of the high-ceiled courtroom. He was dressed in a loosely fitting blue, pin-stripe suit.

Yablonski, his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Charlotte, were shot by hired killers before dawn on Dec. 31, 1969, as they slept in their secluded southwestern Pennsylvania home in Clarksville.

Boyle's lawyers attempted to delay the trial, claiming the indictment charging conspiracy and murder was defective. They carried their fight to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, which quashed the appeal on Friday after 43 minutes of oral argument. It is expected it will take Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague and chief defense lawyer Charles F. Moses a week to select a jury, and then another three weeks to end testimony in the courtroom of Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Catania.

More than 100 prosecution witnesses are ready to testify against the ailing Boyle who is still suffering the effects of a sleeping pill suicide attempt last September, three weeks after he was formally charged with the Yablonski murders.

During the trial Boyle will be confined, under guard, at the nearby Riddle Memorial Hospital.

The government alleges the murder conspiracy was hatched in Boyle's fancy Washington, D.C., office on June 23, 1969, when he was battling Yablonski for the presidency, that the killers were paid out of $20,000 embezzled from the union treasury, and that it eventually involved a total of nine persons — eight of whom already have confessed or been convicted.

Boyle's union victory was overturned by a federal judge in May 1972 on grounds it was achieved by fraud. Then Boyle was convicted of illegally contributing $49,250 in UMW funds to political candidates. Finally, he lost the presidency to an examiner running on the Yablonski platform.

The trial was shifted to Media from Washington County after Boyle's lawyers said their client couldn't get a fair trial in the coal region where Yablonski lived and worked.

Top Demos received milk money, report

He said the cooperative offered to help pay for the list after he declined an offer of a contribution to his unannounced presidential campaign.

—$7,000 for a list for Abourezk, who was then running for the Senate seat he holds now. Abourezk paid $13,000. He said he hadn't been told the milk producers used corporate money, and would have refused it if he had known.

—$30,000 for a list requested by Gov. Docking of Kansas. The state party failed to pay its half, and the list wasn't completed. Docking's Press Secretary James C. Shaffer said Sunday night the governor would have no comment.

—$25,000 for a list sought by Gov. Hall of Oklahoma. This project also was abandoned after the state party failed to pay its share. Hall could not be reached immediately for comment.

—$25,000 for lists for Humphrey's

1972 presidential primary campaigns in Maryland and Florida. The Minnesota Democrat said through a spokesman he could shed no light on the payment. Humphrey referred newsmen to his former campaign manager, Minneapolis lawyer Jack Chestnut, who also said he didn't know about the $25,000.

Associated Milk Producers is the same group under investigation, with two other dairy cooperatives, for allegedly trying to pay $300,000 to a Nixon fund raiser to have an antitrust suit killed.

After the milk producers paid for all the lists, the Valentine, Sherman firm falsified correspondence and invoices covering the transactions. The firm says the forgery was the coop's idea. (Please turn to Page 16)

Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Mr. Kelly, an operating engineer who came here from Greenfield, died Wednesday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Hillsboro Cemetery were John Pierce, Donald Hatch, William Rittenhouse, Kenneth Clark, Charles Curtin and Charles Clyburn.

GM raises auto prices

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it will increase retail car and truck prices an average $28 in the next several days.

The giant auto maker cited higher delivery and production costs for the price hike, its third since the 1974 model year began last September.

The GM announcement Sunday came after the federal Cost of Living Council approved a $50-per-car increase for American Motors. The council indicated in its ruling Friday that it would not challenge a Chrysler increase of $28, effective today.

The council also said that a commitment made by three of the makers last December to limit price hikes for 1974-model vehicles did not cover adjustments for destination charges.

General Motors said Sunday that $15 of the new $28 retail increase will go for destination charges.

Public employees measure studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bipartisan bill requiring that layoffs of public employees be based on seniority comes up for a vote tonight in the Ohio House.

The Senate-approved measure is one of three on the House calendar at an 8 p.m. floor session opening this week's legislative activities.

Senators return at the same hour to consider a pair of bills, including one to increase utility assessments for operation of the Public Utilities Commission.

Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, and Sen. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, the Senate majority leader, called the lawmakers back a day early this week in a bid to finish work on several major pieces of legislation prior to a month's recess April 4.

Campaign financing reforms and some sort of legislation to help relieve the energy crunch were the top priorities listed by the speaker. Gun control, abortion, no fault auto insurance, and no fault divorce—among others—also are pending at various stages.

The campaign financing bill, which passed the House last Wednesday 83-10, went back to the Senate for consideration of extensive House changes. There was no indication when the measure will be brought up for consideration, but Gray said the Senate wants "to take a close look at the mechanics" in the complicated measure.

A joint subcommittee headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, is studying the energy situation and a bill to create a new energy agency. The panel meets Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The lawmakers face their busiest week of committee activity this year. The House scheduled 21 meetings to consider 57 bills while the Senate slated 13 sessions to hear 48 measures.

A subcommittee of the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Elections Committee meets Thursday to resume deliberations on House-approved no fault auto insurance.

The full committee, headed by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, will consider the same day a resolution asking the attorney general to conclude the state's suit against Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus.

In the legal action, the state is challenging whether the big non-profit research organization is meeting charitable obligations set forth in the will of the founder.

Exchange students end weekend Fayette visit

Approximately 32 exchange students from 14 different countries concluded their celebration of International Weekend in Washington C.H. and left for their American homes Sunday afternoon. The weekend included a number of activities enjoyed by the foreign students and their American hosts.

The program was sponsored jointly by the Washington C.H. and Miami Trace AFS chapters, under the leadership of Bill Pool, of the Washington C.H. AFS adult chapter. Student presidents, John Nestor, of the Washington C.H. chapter, and Lynette Anderson of the Miami Trace chapter, did most of the organizing work.

The activities went into full swing Friday when the students, AFS and Rotary exchange students from all over Ohio attended classes with their American friends.

Friday evening they attended "Gym Night" at Washington Senior High School and a square dance at Miami Trace. Pool said that the students tend to enjoy square dancing tremendously because it is a singularly American dance.

Saturday morning they were guided by Phil Brewer, personnel manager, as they toured Mac Tools' Washington C.H. facility. Brewer gave each student a "Mac Tools" jacket patch as a souvenir.

In the afternoon, Laurence (Bucky) Dumford invited all of the students and their hosts to skate at Roller Haven.

The weekend culminated in a dance at the Mahan Building Saturday night. About 400 persons attended and the "Blue Max" provided the music.

Sunday the students gathered at the First Presbyterian Church to depart for home.

Countries represented by the exchange students included Australia, Switzerland, Uganda, Bolivia, Guatemala, Japan, England, Mexico, Colombia, South Africa, Chile, Norway and the Philippines.

Rev. O.L. Ferguson dies at Circleville

CIRCLEVILLE — Services for the Rev. O.L. Ferguson, 87, of Circleville, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Ohio Street Church of Christ in Christian Union. The Rev. Willard Cozad, the Rev. Roy Heimbach and the Rev. David Cyrus will officiate. Burial will be in Floral Hills Cemetery, Circleville.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson died at 10:10 p.m. Saturday in Circleville Manor Nursing Home. Friends may call at the Wellman Funeral Home any time before noon Tuesday at which time they may call at the church.

The Rev. Mr. Ferguson began his ministry in New Holland in 1904. He organized and built the Church of Christ in Christian Union on Gregg Street in 1909 and the Ohio Street Church in Circleville in 1911. He then pastored that church for 32 years.

He spearheaded the construction of the Mount of Praise Campground in Chillicothe in 1918 and in his lifetime served numerous congregations. He was a charter member of the Church of Christ in Christian Union denomination and served on the General Board for many years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Flora Spires; three sons, Paul and Everett, who live in California, and the Rev. Grayson Ferguson, of Logan; two stepchildren, 14 grandchildren, 32 great-grandchildren; and 2 great-great-grandchildren.

His first wife, Lotta Arnold Ferguson, and a son, the Rev. Roy Ferguson, preceded him death.

Friends are asked to contribute to the O.L. Ferguson Memorial Fund.

War on birds continues

GRACEHAM, Md. (AP) — Maryland health officials are considering using infra-red equipment to detect how many birds remain in a pine grove here after a weekend blitz to scare them off.

Shotguns, fireworks and amplified noise exploded around the site in an attempt to roost the millions of starlings and grackles from the 60-acre nesting place they've inhabited since last fall. Their droppings are several inches thick in places and officials fear a health hazard.

Dr. Kenneth L. Crawford, Maryland veterinarian who heads the bird chasing project, claimed 90 per cent success after the weekend campaign. "Each night fewer birds return," he said Sunday.

North Korea wants truce superseded

TOKYO, Japan (AP) — North Korea today proposed to the United States that a peace agreement replace the military armistice that ended the Korean war in 1953 and that all American forces be withdrawn from South Korea.

The North Korean news agency reported that the request was made in a letter to the U.S. Congress by the fifth Supreme People's Assembly in Pyongyang after a proposal by Foreign Minister Ho Dam.

The letter said the military armistice signed July 27, 1953, has become outdated and "cannot guarantee a durable peace."

The proposal stressed that the agreement be reached with the United States, not with South Korea, because "it is right and proper to settle the question between the parties concerned which hold real power to guarantee it with certainty."

The letter listed four points to be included in a peace agreement:

1. Both sides would remove "all danger of direct armed conflict" and the United States would pledge not to "instigate the South Korean authorities to the war provocation maneuvers and fascist repression of the South Korean people or patronize them." America would also promise not to obstruct unification efforts by the North and South.

2. Both sides would "discontinue arms reinforcement and the arms race and stop introducing any weapons, combat equipment and war supplies into Korea."

3. "The berets of the 'United Nations Forces' shall be taken off the foreign troops stationed in South Korea and they will all be withdrawn at the earliest possible date with all their weapons."

4. No foreign country will be allowed military bases in Korea.

Coup fails in Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin, Uganda's military strongman, says he will deal severely with soldiers who tried to overthrow him during the weekend.

The aborted coup, which the government radio said was led by the army chief of staff, was broken by loyal forces in bloody fighting Saturday night and early Sunday at several military camps in the Kampala area.

12 persons die in weekend auto crashes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures all over Ohio dipped to record-breaking lows today as a strong Canadian high pressure system blanketed the state from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

The mercury dropped to three below zero at Toledo, the coldest of the reporting points, at 5 a.m.

The National Weather Service reported this is the latest date that a below zero temperature has been recorded in Ohio.

The old record was the minus four reported in Cleveland March 21, 1885. The weatherman predicted the extremely cold high pressure system would move eastward rather rapidly. The weather service forecast moderate afternoon temperatures followed by below normal readings at night.

Fair Wednesday and a chance of showers Thursday and Friday with a warming trend. Lows Wednesday and Thursday in the 20s and in the 30s Friday. Highs in the 30s and low 40s Wednesday warming to the 50s and low 60s by Friday.

The News In Brief

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Leaders of Mississippi's broiler industry say that the millions of contaminated chickens which the federal government has ordered destroyed are still alive and none has reached consumers.

They promised their cooperation in destroying the contaminated birds.

The government has estimated that 22 million chickens are involved, but the industry says the total is below eight million.

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers begin meetings in Tunis today to review efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to stop the Arab-Israeli shooting on the Golan Heights.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — American satellite photographs confirm Israel's charges that Egypt has moved artillery east of the Suez Canal in violation of the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement agreement, Israeli press reports said today.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who in any way helped us during the sickness and death of our loved one, Albertus A. Abel. Our thanks to VA Hospital & staff, Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center & staff, Dr. Anderson, Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, Father Connelly, the pallbearers and all the fraternal organizations in which he belonged. To each and everyone who in any way tried to make our loss easier to bear, may God's richest blessings be yours.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent upswing in short-term interest rates kept the stock market off balance today, nudging prices lower in quiet trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 6.10 at 872.03 and losers outstripped gainers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts say rising interest rates represent generally a double blow to stock prices: They tend to inhibit economic growth, and they increase the attractiveness of fixed-income investments in comparison with stocks.

The American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .56 at 98.48.

The Amex volume leader was Sanitas Service, unchanged at 7/8, trading for the first time since last Wednesday. Late last week the company said it had a one-month extension on a loan agreement.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 51.74, down .29.

Reagan tops GOP survey

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan is the top choice of Republican county chairmen for the party's 1976 presidential nomination, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

In a mail survey of 3,725 county chairmen, 39 per cent of the 2,384 who responded chose Reagan.

Vice President Gerald Ford had 24 per cent of their votes, former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York had 12 per cent; and former Treasury Secretary John Connally, 7 per cent.

Over the past 20 years, the views of the GOP county chairmen have prevailed in national conventions, except in 1952 when they favored Ohio Sen. Robert Taft over Dwight Eisenhower by 2-1.

Reagan also has wide support from GOP rank-and-file members. Last April, Reagan was second only to then Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. By October regular GOP members picked Reagan as their top choice.

Ford's backers were asked to list a second choice for the nomination if the vice president refused to run for the presidency. Two-thirds of those who selected Ford swung to Reagan, giving him a 55 per cent rating. Without Ford in the race, Rockefeller's support rose to 15 per cent, while Connally rated 12 per cent.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Kent state jury back in session

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— This may be the last week of deliberations for the federal grand jury investigating the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

The jury was called back into session today after a three-week recess.

Before the recess, Robert Murphy, head of the Justice Department team directing the investigation, said his staff would come back with recommendations to the 22-member panel.

Murphy has given little information on the investigation and would not say what those recommendations might involve.

He would say only that the jury will submit its findings to Chief U.S.

District Court Judge Frank Battisti and that the jury might prepare a report.

He said it was unusual for such a report to be prepared and it would be up to the judge to decide whether this jury writes one.

Murphy and others connected with the investigation have declined to speculate on whether any indictments would be returned.

When Battisti empaneled the jury last December, he charged the panel with determining whether there was a probable criminal violation of federal law in the deaths of four students and the wounding of nine others May 4, 1970.

The students were shot when Ohio

National guardsmen opened fire on antiwar demonstrators.

A special state grand jury which investigated the shootings in 1970 cleared the guardsmen of responsibility and indicted more than a score of students and faculty members in connection with four days of disturbances on the campus.

That grand jury's report later was quashed by a federal judge.

See slowdown in Mexican beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today Mexico may diminish in the distant future as a major source of live cattle for U.S. feedlots and boneless beef because of growing demand among Mexican consumers.

But Mexico also is a big buyer of U.S. livestock and related products, including dairy breeding animals and frozen bull semen. Thus, a report by the Foreign Agricultural Service said, the two-way trade is expected to continue brisk for "at least another five years."

"But over the longterm, the outlook is somewhat uncertain as Mexico's population increases and fewer live cattle are available for export," the report said.

It was written by James K. Freckmann, assistant U.S. agricultural attache in Mexico City. He said Mexico is increasing cattle production but that the boost "will about keep pace" with the country's population growth over the next five years.

Mexican feeder cattle have been an important source for many feedlot operators in the southwest, although the imports have fluctuated widely in recent years. Those totaled about 700,000 head in calendar 1973, down from 916,000 in 1972, as the Mexican government held down shipments of both live cattle and beef to help relieve rising meat costs at home.

Sales of U.S. cattle and livestock products have soared, meanwhile, including more than 14,000 dairy breeding cattle worth $7.6 million during the 1972-73 fiscal year ended last June 30. That was up from about 8,000 head sold for $3.7 million the year before.

Freckmann said that in the first four months of the fiscal year that began last July 1 dairy cattle sales to Mexico totaled more than 8,000 head worth $4.5 million, reflecting higher prices per animal.

"Of growing importance have been U.S. exports of frozen bull semen," Freckmann said. "In fiscal 1972, those exports were valued at $65,000, while last year they grew to $270,000 and reached $110,000 during the first four months of fiscal 1974."

GAO completing audit of Ohio GOP committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An audit of the Ohio Republican Party Finance Committee will be completed soon by the U.S. General Accounting Office.

GAO sources said several county GOP committees did not comply with all of the new federal rules on campaign spending. The sources would not say which counties.

Meanwhile, a Justice Department spokesman said a GAO report on the Ohio Democratic Party is being studied for possible criminal action. The GAO report indicated some questionable fund raising activities within the party.

Reception on Tuesday for Mrs. Metzenbaum

CIRCLEVILLE — A reception has been planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Circleville to honor Mrs. Howard E. Metzenbaum.

Mrs. Ann Fabb, coordinator of the Metzenbaum campaign in Fayette County, said the reception will be held in Mancell's Restaurant, directly across from the Pickaway County Fairground.

Boy dies; fire hero

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 10-year-old boy carried his brother to safety from a fire in their home Sunday, then dashed back inside the house, fire officials said. He died in the smoke-filled residence.

The Mecca Township coroner said Timothy Blessing died of suffocation in the smoke.

Fire department Sgt. William Bebech said the Blessings awoke to the fire about 8 a.m. Sunday. They rushed outside, with Timothy carrying six-month-old Sean.

"It was cold," Bebech said. "We had about six inches of snow on the ground from last night, and all we can figure is he ran back inside to put some clothes on."

Five other members of the John Blessing family were unharmed, officials said. Cause of the fire, which destroyed the home, was under investigation Sunday.

Vitamin "E" + "C" Discovery Offers Fast Weight Loss

LOS ANGELES (Special)— New scientific discoveries have now produced a Vitamin E Plus "C" diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

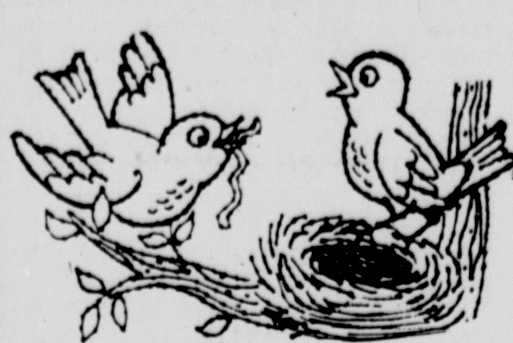

Full Potency vitamin "E" Plus "C" tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin "E" Plus "C" Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin "E" Plus "C".

Opinion And Comment

An electric for the family

In recent years there has been much talk about electric cars, and some development activity. Most of the general interest in the subject was keyed to the anti-pollution theme.

This is no longer the case. The big impetus now for development and production of battery-powered vehicles comes from the energy crisis. The idea of using such means of transportation to conserve fuel is growing more attractive. Already electric buses, vans and small cars are in production, and vigorous competition in this field can be anticipated.

The latest entry - the first in its class - is a standard size auto powered by a 25-horsepower electric motor linked with a battery system. The manufacturers of this vehicle, called the Thunderbolt, say it will have a cruising range of 70 to 120 miles without recharging and can travel up to 70 miles an hour.

There is one little deterrent factor: the car will cost around $7,500.

As the manufacturer says, "that sounds expensive." The firm also claims, however, that in the course of a year the Thunderbolt will save its owner "up to $1,000" on fuel and hundreds of dollars in maintenance costs.

It is a little hard to envision a $7,500 family sedan as the popular car of the future. The Thunderbolt may nevertheless be the herald of a new era when many Americans will be driving electrics to curb pollution and conserve gas.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

You can't have oil both ways

The members of the Audubon societies are lovable people. In this era of gasoline shortages, they just haven't heard the curses of despairing motorists in crowded gas lines.

In between talking about how nice it is to see and hear the redwing blackbird, members rally their friends to defend the Delaware Coastal Zone Act of 1971, which prohibits the building of oil and chemical factories on the Delaware coastline. "The true facts," the Audubonists say, "are that existing refineries could be expanded."

This could be true about the Middle Atlantic states. But what would the lovers of the redwing blackbird do about New England, where there are no existing refineries to expand? The nice people of Durham, N.H., falling back on the Yankee tradition of home rule, have recently said "no" to Aristotle Onassis' offer to build a $600-million refinery in their midst. To them, Onassis is just another Greek bearing gifts.

Durham is a college town and wants to keep its cloistered atmosphere. New Hampshire has only 18 miles of coastline, which is little enough. Its politicians are strung up between two incompatible desires: they would hate to be considered enemies of local option — its "a precious privilege," says Rep. Louis Wyman (R-N.H.) — yet they are loath to lose something that would not only bring oil and gas to their shores but also a thriving satellite industry development. Wyman is concerned lest Maine or Rhode Island get ahead of New Hampshire by building the first refinery in New England.

WOULD THAT Maine or Rhode Island citizens were willing to open their arms to Onassis' Olympic Refineries. But the chances are that Maine or Rhode Island, to say nothing of Massachusetts or Connecticut, would react very much as the Durham townspeople have acted. Everybody wants gasoline and heating oil, but nobody wants to risk dirt and clutter from industrial development.

Maine has already turned down a deepwater oil development for Machiasport in a region which has a scanty population. And Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay and Connecticut's Long Island Sound have their defenders who would resent the pollution of even one more clam or oyster.

What the New England Audubonists don't see is that they are in danger of building up a terrible animus in the South against the Damn yankees who want gas for their cars and oil for their cold winter homes without having to suffer the alleged burdens of refinery and offshore oil drilling development.

Louisiana, for example, has had to accept a huge oil complex — refineries, petrochemical plants, offshore wells and all that — in order to accommodate the Yankees of the North as well as the 80,000 local people who make their livings working in oil and petrochemicals.

THE LOUISIANIANS have had to sell their natural gas — a concomitant of oil development — for a low government-controlled price that has amounted to a giveaway. They don't like it. So they smile grimly at bumper stickers that read: "Let the Yankee bastards freeze in the dark."

The ironic joke about it all is that the modern oil business doesn't have to be dirty. Gov. Melvin Thomson Jr. of

New Hampshire, who still hopes to get a refinery for his state, took special pride in showing a topographical model of the proposed $600 million Onassis refinery. The model made every provision for cleanliness.

If oil is ever struck on the New England coastal shelf, some refineries simply have to be built along the New England coast.

Should the Yankees worry about the possibility of becoming enriched by a local offshore oil development? A wholly objective writer, Neal R. Peirce, in his recent book, "The Deep South States of America" (Norton), remarks that "considering the number of wells drilled so far off the Louisiana coast (more than 20,000), it is amazing that up to the early 1970s only five had ever 'blown out' . . . The worst blowout on record occurred when a Chevron Oil Co. well 30 miles offshore blew in 1970. . . . Later it turned out that Chevron had been breaking the law by failing to install 'storm chokes' — devices which stop oil flow in the event of fire, storm or high winds. . . ."

So we can have both safety, cleanliness — and oil. The Yankees had better wake up.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

The Fayette County Board of Realtors, in our capacity as representatives of the taxpayers of Fayette County, would like to commend the respective Fayette County officials with offices in the Courthouse for their recent policy of staggering employee lunch hours so that the Courthouse is open to the public during the noon hour.

The average citizen, whether in labor, business or a profession, must work regular hours and as a result has found it impossible in the past to gain access to these public offices. This change has also made it possible for attorneys, title examiners and others from adjoining counties to conduct necessary business at any time during week days.

We feel this is definitely a public service and that those people involved should be publicly and properly thanked for their willingness to accommodate the citizens of Fayette County.

Nothing new under the sun, antique auto collector finds

BY MICHAEL MITCHELL
Associated Press Writer
RENO, Nev. (AP) — Rotary engines, smog devices, shockabsorbing bumpers.

To some they are ingenious new inventions from Detroit. But to the operators of the world's largest private automobile collection here, they are merely flashes from the past.

"There's nothing new in cars," says Jim Edwards, a spokesman for Harrah's automobile collection. "Nothing's really changed in the last 60 years."

When the automobile was first coming onto the scene, there were hundreds of auto makers, and many of them had some pretty ingenious ideas.

One of those ideas was the rotary engine which was first introduced by the Adams-Farwell in 1906. In addition, the Adams offered a removable steering wheel and control pedals to convert the car from a two-seat coupe to a single-seat roadster.

And smog?

Detroit said it had made great progress in reducing pollution when it put double burners on engine exhaust systems a few years ago.

The double burner returns exhaust to the engine for a second burning, exactly as in the 1906 Compound which also offered power brakes for good measure.

In 1903 the Knox offered an air-cooled engine. The White Model H touring car offered shock absorbing bumpers in 1907. The Thomas Model 35 offered seat belts in 1907.

The list goes on. The nation's auto makers have made many pilgrimages to the auto collection here.

"They all come to look at our cars," said Edwards "but when they come we just ignore them and let them browse. We don't know what they're looking for, and we can't say what they find here."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

He enjoys Christmas through the entire year

DEAR ABBY: For the past two years, my husband and I and our little son have been spending the Christmas holidays with my family.

On Christmas morning everyone gathers in the living room and we all open our Christmas gifts under the tree. Everyone, except my husband. He refuses to open his presents at that time. He takes them home still gift wrapped, and opens one or two a week. It takes months before they're all opened. He says if he spreads the excitement over a long period of time he enjoys it more than opening 15 or 20 gifts in an hour and then experiencing a big letdown. He prefers to prolong the joys of Christmas as long as possible.

I think it's rude to make people wait months to be thanked for a Christmas gift. He says they are his gifts and he can open them whenever he feels like it. What do you think of this weirdo!

NEW MEXICO WIFE

DEAR WIFE: His behavior is somewhat strange, but he's right, they're his gifts to open whenever he feels like it. By now your family must be accustomed to this peculiarity. But it might comfort you to know that there's at least one more "weirdo" who likes to prolong the joys of Christmas. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: There is a nut who lives across the street from us who still has his Christmas ornaments up! People come from all over just to drive by his house and laugh.

It's not just a decorated tree out front either. He's got Santa and the reindeers on the roof, and his whole front porch and lawn are decorated with every kind of Christmas ornament you can imagine.

Wouldn't you think by this time he'd take that silly looking stuff down? Print this, he might take the hint.

DISGUSTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR ABBY: I don't mean to carp, but I was bothered by one of your readers references to being "gypped", and by the use of that word in the headline of your column.

It's a common but probably unintentional slur, for most people are unaware that the expression "gypped" comes from the word gypsy.

I am not a gypsy, but because of the connection between these two words, I am offended. Can't we stop using the expression as a synonym for cheat?

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, March 25, the 84th day of 1974. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1821, Greeks began a revolt against domination by the Ottoman Empire. The uprising ended 12 years later with the establishment of the independent Kingdom of Greece.

On this date:

In 1634, English colonists under Lord Baltimore reached Maryland.

In 1815, Austria, Britain, Prussia and Russia formed an alliance against Napoleon Bonaparte to maintain the established order in Europe.

In 1865, in the Civil War, Confederate troops captured Fort Stedman in Virginia.

In 1941, in World War II, Yugoslavia joined the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

In 1947, 111 miners lost their lives in a coal mine explosion at Centralia, Ill.

In 1954, the Radio Corporation of America began the first commercial production of color television sets.

Ten years ago: Britain donated one acre of land at Runnymede — the site of the signing of the Magna Carta — for a memorial to President John F. Kennedy.

Five years ago: President Ayub Khan of Pakistan turned power over to the military after 11 years of leadership.

One year ago: President Nixon ordered U.S. forces to remain in Vietnam until all American prisoners of war had been released.

Today's birthdays: Actress Nancy Kelly is 53 years old. Comedian Jerry Colonna is 71.

Find cities improving education

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Families who moved from the cities to the suburbs in the 1960s hoping to find better funded education for their children might consider moving back, says a team of Wright State University researchers.

John Treacy, associate professor of economics, and Russell Harris, have released findings showing school districts within Ohio cities outspent their suburban counterparts by about 15 per cent during the school year 1970-71.

Since the education boom of the 1960s, said the researchers, educators have assumed that money spent per pupil was higher in the suburban schools than in city schools.

While that may have been true then, it is not true in the 1970s, they said.

They blamed a steady increase in the number of school age children in the suburbs, coupled with relatively fixed tax bases, as a big part of the cause.

During the school year, city school districts averaged expenditures of $819 per pupil, compared with $711 per pupil in suburban districts, the report said.

Furthermore, it said, rural school districts trailed both city and suburban areas, falling behind suburban expenditures by an average of $84.

Adult classes remain open at Laurel Oaks

WILMINGTON — The director of adult education at the Laurel Oaks Campus, Wilmington, has announced the extension of registration for the spring term evening adult education classes thru March 29. Spring term classes start the week of April 1 and terminate the week of June 10.

The following courses remain available for immediate registration: Accounting, data processing, shorthand, typing, interior decorating, upholstery, tailoring double-knits, carpentry, electrical wiring, masonry, welding, oil painting and child care.

Students may register in person at the adult education office on the Laurel Oaks Campus, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.

Additional information is available by calling the director of adult education, 383-1411 (Ext. 3232).

New strike by truckers possible?

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Leaders of the Fraternal Association of Steelhaulers have called on independent truckers to be ready to shut down again if necessary to protect a surcharge on freight rates won during the January truckers strike.

The strike recommendation came during the annual meeting of the FASH executive board over the weekend. FASH Chairman William J. Hill said the membership will be asked to authorize a strike.

Granted to independent truckers to help them recover increased fuel costs, the six per cent surcharge was challenged last week by a group of shippers, Hill said.

He said the suit, filed in New York federal court by the National Small Shipments Traffic Conference, Inc., seeks to set aside Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the surcharge.

FASH is considering intervening in the suit, but has not done so yet, Hill said.

Hill is also chairman of the Truckers Unity Committee, formed before the January shutdown to represent 17 independent truckers organizations. He said he would be contacting other groups of owner-operator drivers about a possible shutdown if the surcharge is overturned.

In other action at the FASH executive board meeting, Hill was re-elected chairman and Tom Gwilt and Paul Dietsch were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

If melted at a uniform rate, the Antarctic icecap would yield about six million cubic miles of water — enough to feed the Mississippi River for 50,000 years, all United States rivers for 17,000 years or all rivers in the world for 750 years.

munity growth," loom for Washington C. H.

A public hearing on the new regulations will be held during a special City Planning Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the City Office Building.

If the Planning Commission approves the proposed subdivision regulations, the 100-page document will then be submitted to Washington C. H. City Council for consideration.

Council will provide a 30-day notice of another public hearing before the regulations are enacted as emergency legislation.

THE REGULATIONS were prepared with the professional assistance of a number of experts including developers, surveyors, engineers and architects in addition to personnel from the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development in Columbus and the Ohio Planning Commission.

City Manager Dan Wolford, who was primarily responsible for preparing the detailed subdivision regulation document, said the regulations were originally proposed early in 1973, but, after several public hearings, City Council refused to approve the regulations until 10 revisions were completed.

Revisions have been incorporated into the original regulations by Wolford with the advice of a number of professional people.

"Hopefully, we can have the new regulations in effect by April 10," Wolford said.

WHEN ADOPTED, the new subdivision regulations will replace the present ones established 14 years ago.

"The present regulations were adopted in 1962 and were outdated and needed to be revised," Wolford pointed out. "The old rules are very limited and are not able to serve present needs of the community," he said.

"The primary purpose for establishing new subdivision regulations is to assure the Washington C. H. community of a well-planned growth pattern and will serve as a definite stimulus for future growth," the city manager said.

Wolford said the new subdivision regulations do not represent any outstanding changes when compared with the present rules, but attempt to redefine and provide a detailed explanation of subdivision matters.

THE PROPOSED subdivision regulations have been applauded by developers, builders and other authorities. The developers feel that by just thumbing through the 100-page document, which contains both verbal and graphic explanations, they know immediately what is expected.

The subdivision regulations are divided into three main sections.

The first section contains a modification of the model subdivision regulations prepared by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. The first section of the regulations contains definitions, provisions for enforcement and administration, plat approval procedures and design and improvement standards.

The second section is basically a commentary section which both verbally and graphically explains articles and sections of the model regulations. The comments and illustrations attempt to clarify or explain difficult or involved sections of the regulations. To facilitate the use of the regulations, appropriate sections of the Ohio Revised Code are also included in the second section.

A series of forms to assist in the proper administration of the subdivision regulations is contained in the third section. Each form includes a recommended procedure to expedite a specific requirement of the subdivision regulations.

Mrs. Kirk's Kitchen

By GLADYS KIRK

It's great to be back in the county working with you again after spending 10 weeks "hitting the books" in graduate school at Ohio State University. I'm very grateful to our county team and Beulah Hill, our Area Home Economist for filling in for me.

I was able to work in a few weekends helping to get the Prenatal Classes organized at Fayette Memorial Hospital. It was a great feeling to see the large response (29 expectant mothers!) we had to this project. Mrs. Jean Fettes, a nurse in OB shared my surprise. It was Jean's suggestion, as a member of our Extension Home Economics Committee that brought our attention to this need.

This program committee meets twice a year to help me determine the concerns and interests in Fayette County that should be part of our program emphasis. Members presently serving on this committee include: Miss Pam Baber, Mrs. James Beatty, Mrs. Wayne Clark, Mrs. Clifford Cordes, Mrs. John Fettes, Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Robert Hyer, Mrs. Starley Knedler, Mrs. Richard Maddux, Mrs. George Naylor, Mrs. John Richards, and Mrs. James Ward.

The cooperation and support found in this group has been the key factor for community efforts such as meals on wheels, workshop for school lunch personal, family economics courses, and prenatal classes. Monday evening March 25 the committee will be meeting to follow up the programs that have been aimed at reaching the needs of youth, young families, and the elderly. Topics that members have also added to the agenda include family counseling service. Search and Find project of the Fayette County Board of Mental Retardation, SSI, and organization of homemaker groups.

Suggestions to this committee also come from special interest groups such as the Young Homemakers Committee who invite you to — BEAUTIFY YOUR HOME WITH FLOWERS AND SHRUBS, April 4 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Grace United Methodist Church. Jim Caldwell, OSU Extension Floriculture Specialist will demonstrate how to plant trees and shrubs and grow annuals from seeds, as he teaches the group the types of plants suitable for different yard needs. Whether you are beginning homesite planting on a bare lot around a new house, or want to give new life to a tired, uninspired yard, you will be able to apply the principles of landscape design that Jim will be teaching.

Everyone is welcome. The registration fee of $1.00 includes babysitting for preschoolers. Please call by noon the day before to let us know how many children to provide care for.

Busy Bee Gardeners report

The Busy Bee Garden Club of Jeffersonville met for a luncheon at the Terrace Lounge when Mrs. John Sheeley opened the meeting with the poem, "Mister March." She also conducted the meeting which followed. Mrs. Ancil Creamer, program leader, read "Winter's Over" by Edgar Guest. Members named a favorite shrub for roll call. There were 10 members and one guest, Mrs. Mina Giddings, present.

The first review was given by Mrs.

Creamer on "Best Shrubs to Plant for all Season Color." A discussion followed.

The second review was made by Mrs. Ruth Williams of "Gardening for Better Living," which pertained to fruits and vegetables.

Mrs. Creamer read the poem, "Spring Fever" and Mrs. Sheeley read "Spring is Here."

Miss Helen Fults will be the April hostess with Mrs. Sheeley the program leader.

McNair Women meet in Miller home

Mrs. Russell Miller was hostess when the Women's Association of McNair Church met in her home for the March meeting.

Mrs. Charles Wood, president, conducted the business session and was assisted in Mrs. John Warnecke in the presentation of devotions.

Reports were made of the sewing done in February and March. Plans were also made to attend the Spring Presbyterial at Lancaster April 3. A display of projects and special mission programs to be presented were viewed.

Mrs. Ivan Kelley gave the Bible study taken from the Book of Matthew. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Marriage vows exchanged in Grace Methodist Church

Miss Jana Lucille Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Miller, Rt. 2, became the bride of Larry Dean Self, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Self, Jr., 622 E. Elm St., in a candlelight ceremony March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Grace United Methodist Church. The Rev. Mark Dove officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, presented a half hour of music preceding the ceremony. Her selections included: Evening Star, A Time for Us, One Hand One Heart, To a Wild Rose and Wedding Prayer.

The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli, white Keliar daisies and blue carnations with baby breath. Two sets of seven branch candelabra were decorated with emerald greens with white bows centered with royal blue ribbons. The pews were marked with leather leaf with white bows centered with royal blue ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal length gown of flowered lace over bridal satin. The gown was princess style and the skirt ended in a train edged in lace flowers. Lace flowers centered with pearls were scattered over the gown and around the neckline and fitted sleeves. Her full length mantilla was of nylon tulle gathered to a fitted headpiece of pearl-centered flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, white roses, blue carnations and baby's breath tied with showers of bridal peccot ribbons.

The maid of honor, Linda West of Washington C. H., wore a full length dress of light blue crepe with mandarin collar and long sleeves. The collar and edges of the sleeves were trimmed in silver braid. Her headpiece was a triple bow of rayon chiffon attached to a short nylon tulle veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations and white miniatures with baby's breath tied with showers of royal blue velvet ribbon.

The bridesmaids, Cindy Self, sister of the groom, Brenda Stockwell, Vicki Tubbs and Vikki Madden, all of Washington C. H., wore dresses styled like the maid of honor except the bodices were of royal blue velvet. Their headpieces and bouquets were identical to the maid of honor.

The flower girl, Loretta Self, cousin of the groom, wore a long, light blue crepe dress trimmed in white lace at the collar, waistline, and hem. She carried a white lace basket with blue and white carnations. Stacey Self, brother of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Miller, the bride's mother, wore a full length gown of light pink knit crepe with long, sheer sleeves. The neckline was trimmed with rhinestones and pink beads. Her accessories were silver and she wore a white carnation corsage trimmed with hot pink ribbon. The groom's mother wore a full length gown of light blue knit with lace bodice and long sleeves. Her accessories were also silver and she wore a white carnation corsage trimmed in light blue. The groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Lafe Lambert and Mrs. Bertha Self, wore white carnation corsages.

Serving as best man was Mike McAllister of Washington C. H. Seating the guests were Rick Thompson of Hillsboro, cousin of the bride, Roy Satterfield, cousin of the groom, Gary Smith and Sam Snyder, of Washington C. H. Mrs. John Morris presided at the guest book.

Hostesses for the reception, following the ceremony, in Fellowship Hall were Susan Dundon, Susie Boyer and Kathy Jones. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake trimmed in flowers in shades of blue and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The table was decorated with silver candelabra encircled with greens and blue and white miniature carnations.

For a brief wedding trip, the bride wore a tailored, long sleeve dress with yellow print bodice and bone colored skirt. Her accessories were bone and her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

The couple is residing at 423 W. Elm St. The new Mrs. Self, a graduate of Miami Trace High School in 1973, is employed at Clark's Cardinal Market. Her husband, a 1973 graduate of Washington Senior High School, is employed at Kroger.

The groom's parents were hosts to a rehearsal dinner at the Terrace Lounge on Thursday for members of the bridal party.

Homemakers assemble for luncheon

The Bloomingburg Homemakers met with Mrs. Fred Oswald and Mrs. Eli Craig for a carry-in luncheon and 20 members were present. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Willard Bloomer, Mrs. Jean Brown and Mrs. Elton B. Elliott.

Mrs. Oswald conducted the meeting and members responded to roll call with an Irish joke or a household hint.

Nine laprobes were given to Quiet Acres Nursing Home and one to a woman who was ill.

Mrs. Oswald conducted a demonstration on decorating Easter eggs, and a silent auction followed. Those present were Mrs. Willard Bloomer, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Perrill Anderson, Mrs. Wayne Bloomer, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Joe Elliott, Mrs. Lawrence Garinger, Mrs. John Gibeaut, Mrs. Glenn Hidy, Mrs. Forest Haines, Mrs. Victor Hart, Mrs. William Rockhold, Mrs. Fred Oswald, Mrs. Lucy Randolph, Miss Florence Purcell, Mrs. Frank Slager, Mrs. Don Thompson, Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. Laura Chaney, and Miss Medrith Whiteside.

Miss Purcell will be hostess for the next meeting. An Easter prayer was given by Mrs. Brown.

Circus theme prevails at party

Miss Sara Beth Rankin and Master Matthew Richard Rankin were guests of honor recently when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rankin entertained with a family dinner party in their home. The occasion was to celebrate Sara Beth's eighth birthday and Matthew's first birthday.

A colorful circus theme was used with gifts placed in circus wagons decorated with streamers and balloons. The table centerpiece was a circus birthday cake with animals and a red and white striped canopy. Ice cream clowns were served after gifts were opened.

Attending were Mrs. Richard Rankin, Miss Senate Rankin, Mrs. Harry Rankin, Mrs. and Mrs. William Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson, Mr. Bob Thompson, Mrs. Senath Thompson, Mrs. Mary Ruley and Miss Pat James.

During the evening, Sara Beth presented a piano recital. She is a student of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Senath Thompson.

Ladies Aid holds meeting

The Pleasant View Ladies Aid met in the home of Mrs. Roger Stanforth with 15 present and three new members, Mrs. Edith Yeazel, Mrs. Virginia Evans and Mrs. Floyd Clifford, were welcomed.

Mrs. Larry Weidle gave devotions and it was announced that each member is to make two bibs for the next meeting, at the church at 7:30 p.m. April 17. They will be given to the VA Hospital. 'Secret' sisters will be revealed.

Members brought 12 laprobes and four bibs for the VA Hospital, Chillicothe. Cheer card were signed to be sent to the ill.

Clearing work delays Paint Creek pool

HILLSBORO — Flooding of the new Paint Creek Lake and formation of a pool has been delayed because of final clearing work in the basin area, officials of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers report.

The new flood control project with recreational facilities is located 15 miles east of Hillsboro on the Ross-Highland county line.

But plans for a formal dedication on June 15 are moving forward. Carl Sitterle, of Greenfield, has been chosen to emcee the program which will feature a talk by Congressman William H. Harsha, Sixth District Republican. Hillsboro, Greenfield, Bainbridge and Chillicothe leaders are sponsoring the program with Jim Krug, of Bainbridge, serving as chairman.

Conrad Ripley, public affairs officer from the Huntington, W. Va., office of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, reported the Corps has completed most of its basic recreational projects, with a $1 million contract to be let in the near future to round out the corps' program.

THE STATE of Ohio had planned to add some recreation facilities of its own and take over this phase but ran into funding problems. Ripley said the state may start its improvements with the 1975 fiscal year, starting July 1, 1975. Meanwhile, the Corps will manage and supervise its facilities. These include a 199-unit camp site on Taylor Road south of Greenfield, two boat ramp facilities, plus overlooks, parking areas and restroom projects.

Ripley said the Corps will have one ranger and boat on the completed lake this year. He will watch for littering, reckless operation and similar violations. The Corps will also operate the camping area with college students. The Corps will have one park supervisor and an assistant as permanent personnel. Residences for these men and a headquarters building, plus a picnic and recreation area, are included in the upcoming $1 million bidding.

No horsepower limit has been established for the new 1,200-acre lake, Ripley said. The corps and the state will jointly decide the horsepower limit.

Sugar firm sale brings $110 million

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The signing of purchase agreements for the sale of the Great Western Sugar Co. to the Great Western Producers Cooperative for $110.5 million has been announced by company officials.

The sale includes Northern Ohio Sugar Co., a subsidiary of Great Western Sugar with plants in Fremont and Findlay, Ohio.

The sale and financing agreement was announced in a joint statement by officials of the cooperative and the sugar company's parent firm, Great Western United.

The sale will affect about 700 sugar beet growers in northwest Ohio and southeast Michigan and about 6,000 growers in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

A joint statement by Robert R. Owen, president of the cooperative, and Robert G. Everett, president of GWU, said the purchase agreements "anticipate a sale not later than Oct. 1, 1974."

The sale has been pending for more than two years, but has been delayed by financing and legal problems, the officers said.

The statement said the sale involves $58.5 million dollars at the time of closing, based on the amount of stockholders' equity, and $52 million in first mortgage financing.

The cooperative on Saturday made a $500,000 down payment, the statement said. The sugar company agreed to pay any increase in its net worth above the $58.5 million to GWU before the sale closing.

The statement said GWU will receive an additional $15 million in cash, with the remainder of the $58 million in "subordinated capital debt." That will include $15 million in capital notes and $28 million in subordinated debentures.

miles of Greenfield from the south.

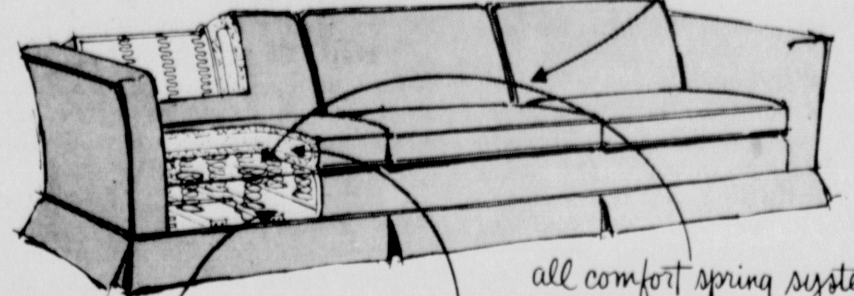

Sheldon indicated the flood control structures built into the project would be damaged, along with planned recreational facilities.

He said the level of Paint Creek at Greenfield is 820 feet, or 22 feet higher than the normal lake level. To raise the level of the lake much, he said, would flood the improvements already made. It would take away much of the storage capacity for flood control.

Bizarre holdup bid probed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police still were attempting to sort out the details and find the last suspect in a bizarre shootout—the end result of an abortive weekend robbery attempt at an east-side Indianapolis fastfood restaurant—which left a 13-year-old boy dead and another man critically wounded.

Police were looking for Lankie Lee Whisenant Sr., who left his son Lankie Lee Jr. mortally wounded in a parking lot outside the restaurant and fled.

Police said the father was apparently attempting to get to his wife in New Richmond, Ohio, after the abortive Saturday night attempt to rob 54-year-old Pete Grootendorst, the proprietor of the carry-out restaurant.

The man drove away leaving his son lying in the snow with four gunshot wounds, the boy's uncle, 42-year-old Troy Statz dazed from a fall and Grootendorst also shot four times.

They said Statz and his nephew entered the restaurant and ordered some sandwiches and coffee and while Grootendorst was preparing the food with his back to the counter, Statz drew a gun and said, "This is a stickup."

They said Statz began shooting as Grootendorst turned and that the proprietor drew a .22 caliber pistol he wore strapped to his hip and returned the fire. Grootendorst was hit in the stomach and legs and the youngster was shot in the back. No other persons were injured in the shooting.

Police said Statz grabbed Grootendorst's gun after the older man collapsed to the floor and he helped the younger Whisenant to the parking lot where his father was waiting in a car. But as they came near the waiting car, Statz slipped on the ice, fell and broke his nose.

Police said the elder Whisenant tried to help his son into the car, but saw a crowd gathering and drove away. Statz was arrested at the scene on charges of armed robbery and inflicting injury while in commission of a felony.

The younger Whisenant died en route to the hospital and Grootendorst was listed in critical condition Sunday night at Marion General Hospital here.

Police said Whisenant may have been heading for Ohio to join his wife, who has been living in a mobile home there for the past month. They said Mrs. Whisenant left Indianapolis after being accused of embezzling funds from an Indianapolis shoe store.

Police said the Whisenant family came to Indianapolis from Chicago seven months ago and had no previous record of arrests in Indiana. Statz had a minor police record in North Carolina.

Street, highway crews battle 'late' snowfall

City street and state highway department crews started to prepare work schedules for the week after winter overstayed its welcome over the weekend.

Workers from the city street department and the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County labored through the night Saturday a drifting blanket of snow, measuring almost six inches, that had collected during the spring storm.

Ironically, the snowstorm hit the Fayette County area three days after the official opening of spring and eight days after all studded snow tires were, as required by Ohio law, to be removed from cars.

Bill Duncan, general foreman of the city street department, said five men started their snow removal operations at 9:30 p.m. Saturday and labored until 6 a.m. Sunday. In addition to salt-spreading operations, two snow plows were employed by the city crews.

Duncan said approximately 20 tons of salt were dumped.

Fifteen crews from the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County plowed and salted roads starting at 6 p.m. Saturday until about 4:30 p.m. Sunday, according to Assistant Superintendent William Pollard.

Weather permitting, city street department workmen this week will be sealing streets, building a manhole and clearing brush from the banks along Paint Creek, according to Duncan.

General maintenance projects such as cleaning bridges and equipment will occupy workers from the state highway garage.

Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, said county crews will be occupied with drainage projects on the Whiteoak, Washington - New Martinsburg and Jamison roads in addition to constructing guardrail on the McKay Road in Green Township.

Flood insurance programs catching on

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Even before ecology became paramount, insurers knew that civilization and nature often mixed poorly, especially when drainage areas were paved for parking and factories were built on flood plains.

When available, flood insurance sold at forbidding prices, and most agents and homeowners and businessmen didn't even consider such protection. Insurers claimed it was a losing matter.

That notion persisted among businessmen and homeowners, even though in recent years a federally subsidized program makes low-cost flood insurance available to communities that take certain precautions against inundation.

And so, when nature and civilization clashed two years ago few homeowners or businessmen had any insurance at all. More than $1.7 billion of damage was done by floods in the East, and only a small fraction was insured.

The destruction in Rapid City, S.D., from another flood provides stark details:

In that Black Hills community about 700 homes, 150 business structures and 500 mobile homes were destroyed. Hundreds of other homes were damaged.

After the rains ceased it was learned that only 27 homes and 2 businesses had flood insurance. The total loss was about $100 million, but only $166,451 was covered by flood insurance.

It became clear that few people in Rapid City knew that their community was eligible for low cost flood insurance, subsidized by the government and sold through company agents in the same manner as any other insurance.

Since the disasters of two years ago flood insurance has caught on. In November 1970, only 42,900 policies existed, providing $673 million of coverage. As of Jan. 31, 1973, 316,000 policies provided $5.5 billion of coverage.

The 1972 floods spurred many flood-prone communities to qualify for the National Flood Insurance Program. From May 31, 1972 to May 31, 1973, the number of qualified communities jumped to 2,275 from 1,201. It now exceeds 3,000.

To become eligible, communities must agree to zoning and land use restrictions — to restrain civilization from encroaching on the water's rights, so to speak. Requirements met, almost any agent can provide the coverage. As a result of legislation signed Dec. 31, 1973, the limits of coverage have been greatly enlarged.

Single-family homes may be insured for up to $35,000, double the earlier limit. Two-family to four-family structures and small businesses may be insured for up to $100,000, compared with $30,000 previously.

The residential policy costs 25 cents for each $100 of insurance, with the minimum premium pegged at $25. For the maximum coverage of $35,000 a homeowner would pay $87.50. The nonresidential rate is 40 cents a $100.

The late Charles Hamilton, who wrote English schoolboy stories under the name of Frank Richards, turned out 80,000 words a week for a lifetime output of 72 million words.

Burglary at VFW post nets $400

Approximately $400 was stolen early Monday from the cash register at the Post 3762, Veterans of Foreign Wars, headquarters, city police report.

Sometime between 12:01 a.m. and 2:34 a.m., a burglar gained entrance to the quarters at 110½ S. Fayette St., by sawing a padlock from the double steel doors at the top of the stairway.

The intruder kicked open the wooden door leading to the entire bar area and ransacked the cash register, taking approximately $400.

Police Specialist Larry Walker is investigating with assistance from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, London.

A WASHINGTON C. H. man was arrested and charged with two counts of disorderly conduct by intoxication at 2:35 Sunday.

The arrest and charges stemmed from a call for police assistance from Bert's Bar, 503 Delaware St., stating that Walter D. Aills Jr., 23, 1218 Rawlings St., had broken a 24 by 36 inch window, valued at $6, on the south side of the building.

A Cincinnati woman reported the gas tank of her car was emptied of its half-tank of gasoline, valued at $2.50, sometime between 2:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. Saturday, police said.

Teresa Holtmeier said her car was parked in front of the Washington Inn when the incident occurred.

A New Holland man's garage and home were burglarized sometime between Jan. 31 and March 23, sheriff's deputies report.

Marvin O. Landman discovered the garage had been entered by a burglar who forced the bottom window pane and then removed the others. A screen was cut and a lock on an inner door leading into the house forced.

Sgt. Bill Crooks of the Sheriff's Department, who is investigating, reported frozen food from a freezer in the garage was taken and a microwave oven, a 21 channel citizen's band radio and a jewelry box containing assorted pieces of jewelry were missing.

A small Revolutionary War cannon and four large cannon balls were taken from the Milledgeville Cemetery sometime between Feb. 21 and March 18. The cemetery monument is being sought by sheriff's deputies.

Last Green Berets leave Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The Thai army today honored the U.S. Army Special Forces at an airport ceremony as the last 300 Green Berets left the country.

The ceremony marked the end of 14 years of Special Forces activity in Thailand. Based at Lopburi, 100 miles north of Bangkok, Green Berets trained Thai soldiers in special warfare techniques.

About 35,000 U.S. servicemen are still stationed in Thailand.

Steel pinch to continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steel customers' hopes for an easing of the tight steel supply situation are all but gone for the rest of 1974, Industry Week said today.

Raw steel production is being limited by a shortage of coking coal and the soaring price of steel-making scrap, the business weekly said.

Milledgeville awards dinner held at school

MILLEDGEVILLE — Principal Robert Cosgray was the master of ceremonies when the annual awards banquet was held Thursday at the Milledgeville Elementary School.

Coaches Sid Woodrow and Fred Ehlerding presented basketball letters to Garland Fitzpatrick, Lonnie Williams, Dean Ison, Jeff Moore, John Patterson, Mike Scaggs, Kenny Harris, Barry Kingery and Tony Hendricks. Hendricks was given special recognition for securing a berth on the all-star team, and the coaches were given wall plaques.

Cheerleaders Kristin Herman, Teresa Hill, Kelly Lane, Patricia Hixon, and Teresa Shoemaker received flowers, necklaces and certificates from their advisers, Mrs. Fred Ehlerding and Miss Tammy West. The girls then gave the advisers gifts to show their appreciation.

Groves, Richard Moore, Lisa Fitzpatrick, Frank Groves, Julie Kingery, Terry Davis, Rob Hanschell, Jack Martindale, Billie Strausand, Garland Fitzpatrick, Roger Hiser, Patricia Hixon, Kelly Lane and Jeff Moore.

Winners of the Halloween ticket sales contest were recognized by PTO President Marion Stockwell. Overall winners were Garland Fitzpatrick, first; Amy Stockwell, second, and Kristin Herdman, third. Other top salesmen were Kim Bowermaster, Kelly Lane, Terry Davis, Tony Hendricks, Paul Fitzpatrick and Teresa Hill.

Mrs. Tom Anderson, adult leader, introduced the Brownie Troop whose members are Renee Anders, Toni Anderson, Diane Duteil, Kathy Hixon, Christina Jett, Julie Kingery and Penny Sears.

Members of the junior troop, Tina Anders, Teresa Ball, Crystal Davis, Patricia Hixon and Sandra Lewis, were introduced by Mrs. Howard Hixon, adult supervisor.

Cosgray thanked the PTO for sponsoring the banquet and for the many school improvement projects in which the organization has participated during the past year. The Rev. Albert Briggs closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

Heavy-duty tags slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will issue motorists heavy metal license plates, designed to last as long as five years, beginning in 1975, a spokesman for the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles says.

Jim Garry said the planned tags will save the state between $2 million and $2.5 million a year in production costs.

Vehicle owners will be required to get new validation stickers each year for the heavier plates, Garry said.

The multiyear plates were mandated by the legislature last year.

Garry said the multiyear plates will have scarlet numerals on an off-white background. The safety motto, "seat Belts Fastened?" will be dropped.

No increase is planned in the cost of the plates, Garry said.

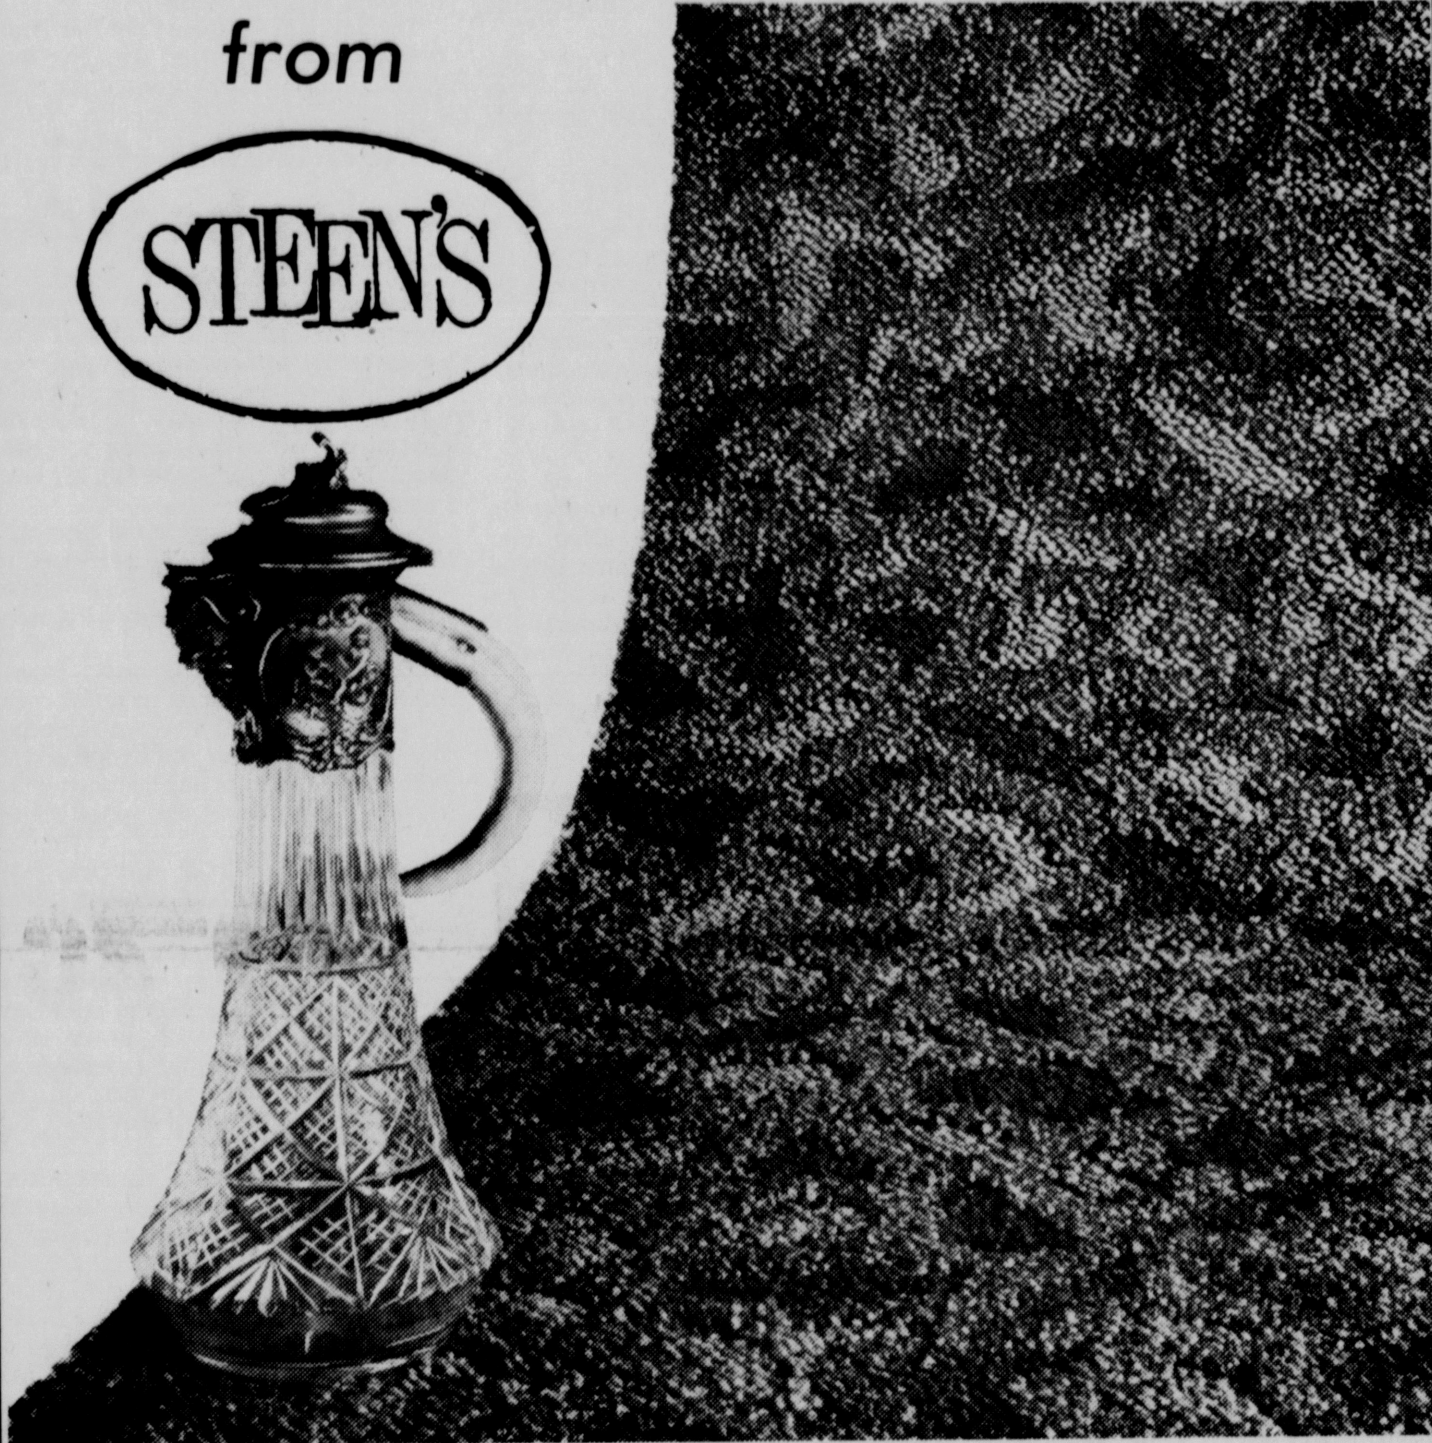

Hippies ousted

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Authorities today rounded up 94 persons they described as hippies and ordered them deported. At least 17 were Americans.

They said 45 already have left Malaysia and the rest, now in prison in northwestern Penang, will leave within the next day or two.

Immigration officials said Penang residents were complaining about scantily dressed or even naked hippies on adult beaches.

Prevention of cancer promoted

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — The President of the American Cancer Society has proposed a worldwide cooperative effort to dig out knowledge which "would be useful for immediate application to cancer control."

Out of the annual toll of 350,000 cancer deaths, "at least 100,000 American lives that we know about are needlessly lost to cancer each year," Dr. Justin N. Stein told a Cancer Society seminar for science writers Sunday.

Most of those facing high risks of contracting cancer of the lungs, breasts, stomach, cervix, colon and rectum, could be saved by earlier diagnosis or by avoiding some risks. These include cigarette smoking in case of lung cancers, or exposure to chemicals in the environment, Dr. Stein said.

He proposed a formalized system embracing efforts of the American Cancer Society, National Cancer Institute, state health departments, medical societies, World Health Organization, and the International Union Against Cancer. The aim would be to protect high-risk people by informing them of solid facts.

To identify the high-risk people, "much remains to be learned about environmental influences, industrial hazards, ecological factors such as atmospheric and water pollution in this country. But much is known to permit us now to make a greater effort toward saving the lives of those who die needlessly every year," Dr. Stein said.

Lacking rigidity, different parts of the sun spin at various speeds. Scientists believe the turbulence thus generated forces giant twisting loops of electrified gas to break through the surface, forming sunspots.

Subdivision rules heard

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday morning handled miscellaneous matters before a number of afternoon hearings.

A public hearing was scheduled to be held at 3 p.m. Monday in the commissioners' office regarding proposed subdivision regulations for Fayette County.

Objections voiced by developers at a March 12 meeting will be reviewed by commissioners before a work session with the Fayette County Planning Commission at 4 p.m.

The first public hearing on the Perrill ditch improvement project was scheduled to be held at 1 p.m. Monday. The hearing on the ditch, located in Jefferson Township, has been extended from two previously postponed dates.

AN ANNEXATION hearing was scheduled to be held by the commissioners at 2 p.m. Monday. Larry Chrisman, of Washington C. H., is seeking to have three northside lots, partially bounded by Gibbs and Earl avenues and Ohio 41-N, annexed to Washington C. H. The land includes all of lots 407, 408 and 409 of the Washington Improvement Co. Addition.

The board accepted a bid submitted by the Kingery Roofing Co., to install new roofing on the Courthouse building. The bid, the only submitted for the improvement project, was for $5,160.80.

Commissioners approved a request from Catherine Hyer, county clerk of courts, for new office equipment and also discussed entering into an agreement with a number of trees at the Fayette County Children's Home.

The commissioners will be attending a formal ribbon cutting ceremony to open the U.S. 35 bypass project at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Dog bite reported

A Washington C. H. boy was bitten by a dog on the right thumb at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Kevin Ray Mossbarger, 10, Washington Manor Court, was treated by a private physician and released, city police said.

Dorset show shatters records

Records were shattered during the 14th annual Ohio Dorset show and sale, sponsored by the Ohio Dorset Breeders Association Friday and Saturday at the Fayette County Fairground.

The sale, which offers the largest selection of Dorset sheep in a public sale in the nation, attracted 42 consignors from 12 states and Canada and buyers from 15 states.

Sheep sold in the Ohio Dorset Breeders Association sales have been winners in shows throughout the nation and have provided foundation ewes and stud rams for both new and established breeders.

Robert Highfield, 414 Van Deman St., who served as sales manager, said 100 head of Dorsets averaged a record price of $214.50, almost $20 more than last year's record average of $185.35. The 100 head of Dorsets included 37 rams and 63 ewes.

Fifteen head of horned Dorsets were also sold and average $176.34, Highfield said.

DAVID OGAN, of near Greenfield, who was among the 42 persons consigning sheep to the sale, had the top ram lamb. Ogan sold the ram lamb to Willis Higgins, Hancock, N.H., for $600. The top ram was consigned by Penn State University, University Park, Pa., and was sold to Roger Douglas, Janesville, Wis., for $825. The top ewe was purchased by Galen Sue Hidemann, Grant Park, Ill., for $825 from Robert Herr, Narvon, Pa.

Merle R. Light, a professor at North Dakota State University, served as the sales judge and Hobart Farthing, of Findlay, was the auctioneer.

During the show held Saturday morning, the champion ram was shown by Dale Hidemann, Grant Park, Ill. Steve Olsen, Stoughton, Wis., had the reserve champion ram; Ohio State University consigned the champion ewe and Penn State University consigned the reserve champion ewe.

TROPHIES for the show were donated by Washington Savings Bank, champion ram; Fayette County Bank, reserve champion ram; First National Bank, Washington C.H., champion ewe, and First National Bank, New Holland, reserve champion ewe.

The champion horned ram was shown by John Holland, Ontario, Canada. The trophy was donated by the Fayette County Area Bankers Association.

Lunch as served by the Washington C.H. Firemen's Association at the sale barn both days, and a lamb smorgasbord was held Friday night in the Mahan Building for the consignors.

A junior sheep judging contest was held Friday on the Fairground for all qualified 4-H and FFA teams. The Miami Trace High School FFA chapter team won team judging honors and a trophy donated by the Federal Land Bank Association, Washington C.H.

Lowell Douce, Rt. 4, Washington C.H., served as general chairman of the junior judging contest and co-chairmen were William Diley, vocational agriculture advisor at Miami Trace, and Jack Sommers, Fayette County 4-H Extension agent.

State cage champs named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rick Apke searched for words to describe the feeling of playing on two straight Ohio high school basketball championship teams.

"It's just unbelievable. So many people doubted us. They facetiously asked if we could come back here again this year," said the slender senior Saturday night after leading Elder to a 60-54 title victory over snake-bitten Canton McKinley.

Apke scored 18 points and Bill Earley, the only other regular back from last year, hit 16, keeping McKinley titleless in seven championship game attempts.

Akron Manchester, behind record-shattering Mike Phillips, walloped Columbus Hartley 72-52 for the Class AA title and Lorain Clearview edged Pittsburg Franklin-Monroe 74-69 for the Class A crown.

Before leading his players in prayer afterward, Elder Coach Paul Frey told his Panthers why they were the seventh big school in Ohio history to win back-to-back titles.

"I told you all during the year the one primary reason you would get back here," Frey said. "It's the thing you all have inside of you."

Dave Grote, a 1973 Elder superstar now playing at the University of Michigan, joined in the celebration in the jubilant Panthers' dressing room.

"This year I could enjoy it," he shouted. "I went wild this year, but I still had the same chill as last time. At Elder you're playing for the whole community. In college you're only playing for a few friends."

Apke credited much of Elder's success to its booming support from its students, 1,600 boys. The Panther backers again rocked St. John Arena with their cheering.

"It's the best cheering and enthusiasm in the whole country," Apke said. "They psyche us up and rattle the opposition."

Frey's team was ranked only 16th in the state during the season, but beat seven teams in the top 20, climaxed by the victory of No. 1 McKinley.

It didn't bother Frey. "I hope we never get a call. I'd rather be an underdog. You can sneak up on people and motivate your players better," he said.

The defeat, McKinley's first in 26 games this season, was a bitter one for Bob Rupert. And the Bulldog mentor said he was irked at hearing about McKinley's hex.

"I wish people would play down our bridesmaid role," he said. "These kids never have been bridesmaids before."

Frank Ridley hit 20 points for McKinley, but he was the only double figure scorer as Elder wound up its 23-3 season.

Mike Phillips, Manchester's 6-foot-11 senior, was the individual standout of the three-day classic at Ohio State.

"He's simply a nightmare," Manchester Coach Bernie Conley said after Phillips' 38-point, 22-rebound performance that wiped out six Class AA state tournament marks.

Ohio's alltime career scorer with 2,573 points, Phillips broke three field goal records with 22 in the title game and 34 for the tournament. His point totals of 38 in the finale and 64 for the two games set three more marks.

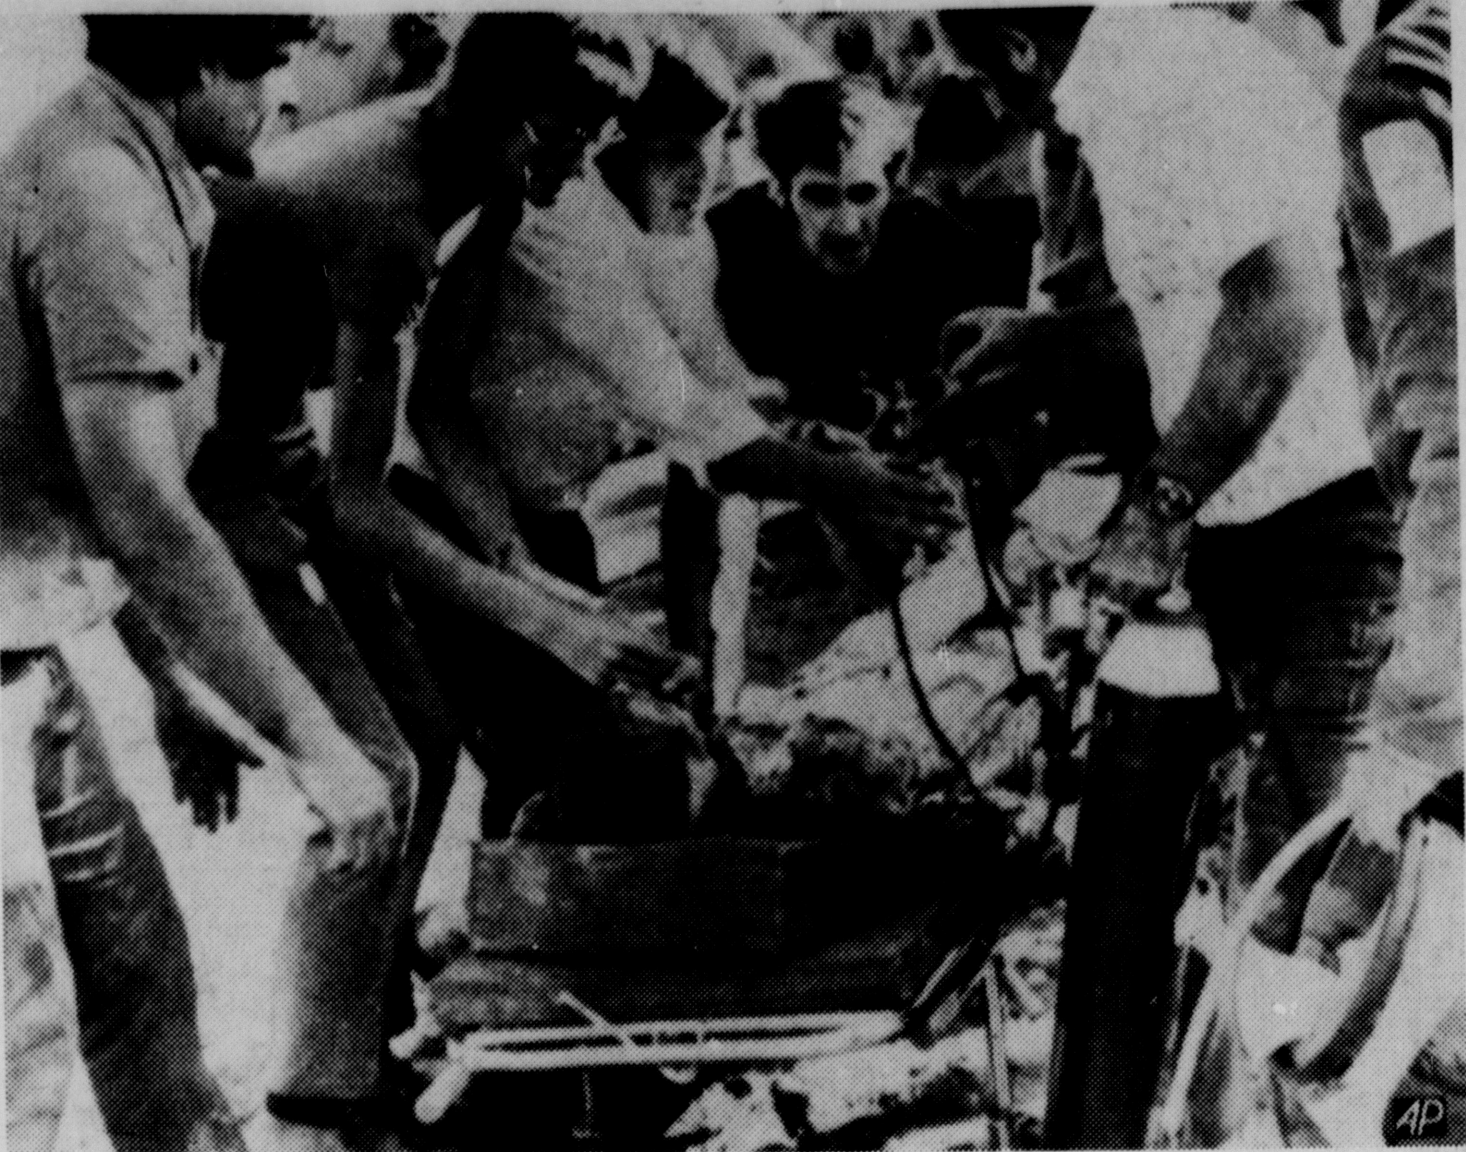

Second-ranked Manchester closed out a 26-0 season with its first state title. Hartley, led by Mike Gilliland's 25 points, finished at 20-5.

"We have some good basketball teams in Northeastern Ohio," Conley said. "They're underestimating our talent. We're not knocking anybody, though."

Phillips has narrowed his college choice to 11 schools and will start visiting campuses. Ohio State and North Carolina State have been prominently mentioned for him.

Larry Harris, Lorain's 6-foot-7 superstar who scored 65 points in two state tournament victories, said his list of colleges is down to five. Clearview backers say the graceful Harris, who can play anywhere on the floor, leans toward Ohio State.

"I'd rather keep it confidential right now," Harris said with a big grin after scoring 30 points to give Clearview a 24-2 mark. Franklin-Monroe, paced by Mike Cross' 28 points, wound up at 25-4.

N.C. State faces Marquette cagers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Norman Sloan of North Carolina State and Al McGuire of Marquette, two basketball coaches who believe strongly in love, were down to the final game of the season tonight as their teams met for the NCAA championship.

"This team is made up of men who truly love one another — that's why it has been a winner," said Sloan, 47-year-old Indiana native who played in the backcourt at N.C. State 25 years ago under legendary Everett Case.

Sloan said the family feeling generated by his players toward each other and their coaches has made them a team.

David Thompson, Monte Towe, Tim Stoddard and Mark Moeller were key sophomores last year and are in their second year of play with current seniors Tom Burleson and Steve Nuce.

Sloan conceded it took while before junior college transfers Moe Rivers and Phil Spence, new to the squad this season, fit in comfortably as members of the family.

McGuire said before Marquette began its season, "It's definitely going to depend upon if the players really love each other or just make believe and have their love affairs with the semi agents who will tout them and blow their heads out of proportion."

The N.C. State Wolfpack, No. 1 in the nation and 29-1 on the season with a 92-game winning streak, is averaging 27 points a game.

Marquette, ranked No. 3 on a 26-4 record, traditionally has been a defensive leader under McGuire, who regards his swarming defense as part of his offense.

His warriors are 104-11 for their last four seasons. In those 115 games they have yielded more than 75 points only 11 times, twice in overtime games.

First round action in the fifth annual Washington C.H. Jaycees Invitational basketball tournament was held Sunday with seven games on tap.

The first game had Harris Auction coasting by R.J. Roberts Construction 76-65. Larry Mowery and Larry Stricker paced Harris' with 20 and 13 points respectively. Robert's was led by Curtis Creamer with 16 and Bob Barrett with 11.

In the second game of the day, before a crowd of around 300, Washington Savings Bank slipped by Fields Recreation 97-77. Washington Blue Lion head coach Gary Shaffer led the Bank with 38 points followed by Danny Mahoney with 23. Recreation got 24 points from Fields and 19 points from Fletcher Yates.

Fields Recreation held an early lead but had one man foul out and was left with only four players to complete the fourth quarter. Washington Savings Bank had little trouble handling just four men to come up with the victory.

Gary Thomas All-Stars smoked Kingston Merchants in the third game 83-41. Keith Evans and Muff Jones led the All-Stars with 22 and 17 points respectively. The Merchants were led by Search with 18.

In the fourth contest of the evening Dave Dennis Volkswagen waltzed by Kirk's La-Z-Boys 87-39. Dave Dennis was led by Radel, Kiehl and Fisher with 16, 26 and 10 points respectively. Kirk's received 12 points from Roger Taylor and eight points from Rob Rodenfels and Ray Smith.

The fifth game saw Dwayne Puckett's All-Stars slid by Credit's Construction 102-64. The All-Stars, sporting familiar Ohio University stars, had little trouble with Credit's Construction. Dave Ball and Bill Brown countered with 26 and 20 points respectively for Puckett's with Denny and Bob Thompson collecting 19 apiece. Bob Beval led the Construction with 22 points.

The sixth game of the night provided the most thrilling entertainment as Circleville Oil squeezed by Jeffersonville All-Stars 88-81 in double overtime.

Barnard and Mallisall pumped in 21 and 20 points for Circleville and Tom Gifford and Steve Huffman collected 28 and 18 points for Jeffersonville. Bob Thornberry aided the All-Stars with 12 and Bob Hoover countered with 18 points for Circleville.

The last game of the opening round had Eldon Roberts Construction defeating Sabina Bank 101-82.

Phil Blankenship and Steve Seig led Construction with 30 and 17 points respectively. Sabina Bank was led by Briggs and Larry Bartram, Wilmington High School basketball coach, with 17 and 15 points respectively.

Monday nights action will have three

Opening round action complete in Jaycees basketball tourney games on the schedule. Starting at 6:00 p.m. will be Sardinia Merchants and Cummings Pharmacy. The second game will be Superior Carpet and Harris Auction and the third game at 9 p.m. will be Eldon Roberts Construction and Helms and Associates.

Leading the list of stars that are supposed to appear are Allan Hornyak. The Former Ohio State scoring ace will play with Helms, along with Phil Bihl, Mike Henry and Jim Creamer just to name a few.

Sands, Angels top Brewers, 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When you're hot, you're hot, but if Charlie Sands doesn't cool off pretty soon he won't have anything left for the regular season.

The 26-year-old California catcher is violating Yogi Berra's old theory that there are only so many hits in your bat and why waste them during spring training.

Saturday, Sands cracked his second pinch homer of the spring, a three-run shot that lifted the Angels to a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers. Sunday, he walloped a grand slam home run and a double as the Angels trounced the Brewers 15-2.

It was his fourth home run of the training season, giving him 12 runs batted in and an unheard of .615 batting average.

"I've been hot before, but never anything like this," he said. "I can't explain it. I'm just swinging good."

It also was a productive weekend for Steve Kline of the New York Yankees, who missed most of the 1973 campaign with a sore arm. The sinker-balling right-hander checked the Chicago White Sox on three hits and one run in six innings Sunday and the Yankees eked out a 2-1 victory on a seventh-inning wild pitch by Chicago's Stan Perzanowski.

Richie Zisk slammed two home runs and Bob Robertson hit one as the Pittsburgh Pirates trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 7-2. Zisk added a single and drove in four runs, giving him six home runs and 12 runs batted in for the spring.

Bill Greif, Rich Troedson and Vicente Romo held Oakland to six hits and the San Diego Padres blanked the world champion A's 2-0.

Willie Crawford's basesloaded single in the eighth inning broke a scoreless tie and sparked Los Angeles to a 3-0 victory over the Houston Astros, the Dodgers' eighth straight triumph.

Mike Cubbage's run-scoring single in the 15th inning gave the Texas Rangers a 3-2 victory over Montreal, the Expos' sixth straight defeat.

Tony Perez cracked a three-run double to cap a seven-run rally against rookie John Glass and veteran Bob Miller in the eighth inning that lifted the Cincinnati Reds past the New York Mets 10-8.

Purdue wins NIT; tops Utah

NEW YORK (AP) — "We suddenly came all unglued," said Coach Bill Foster Sunday after Purdue had defeated his Utah team 87-81 to win the National Invitation Tournament.

"It seems like all of a sudden for about eight minutes of the second half we got careless and didn't seem to be able to grab a rebound."

While Utah was mired in mistakes and foul trouble, it was Purdue's bench strength which was providing game-winning opportunities.

"We've had a strong bench all year," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus after Sunday's victory. "But when Jerry Nichols got hurt in the Hawaii game, I started to get worried about the flexibility of our bench, and being able to substitute freely."

"I guess I needn't have worried."

Boston College won the consolation game from Jacksonville 87-77 as Mark Raterink and Will Morrison each scored 24 points.

Both teams had crises which tested their benches. Tyrone Medley, the Utes' second-leading scorer going into final game, fouled out with 13:01 remaining in the game after tallying only six points, while Chas Menatti, their starting forward, got four fouls late in the first half, and spent the early part of the second half on the bench.

"We went into the locker room at halftime leading in the score, leading in shooting and rebounding," said Foster. "But we were also leading in fouling. And when Medley fouled out after Menatti got into trouble, we were really hurt."

Purdue seemed to be in trouble when center John Garrett picked up his fourth foul with 12:42 remaining. But Tom Scheffler came in and not only scored two baskets, one of which tied the score 62-62, but also helped put a damper on Mike Sojourner, who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Another key player in the Purdue second-half comeback was Bruce Parkinson, whose four points in less than a minute late in the game put Purdue ahead to stay 76-72 lead.

Garrett and Frank Kendrick finished as the high scorers for Purdue, which after finishing third in the Big Ten, came to New York and completed its season with a 21-9 mark. Kendrick has 25 points, while Garrett finished with 24.

Sojourner and Burden, who finished as the tourney's high scorer with 118 points, were the big guns for Utah. Sojourner finished with 23 points and 19 rebounds, while Burden had 27.

Burden scored 18 in the first half when the Utes, true to Foster's pre-game promise, came out running and scored three quick baskets.

Purdue's victory climaxed a week that had begun with the defeat of top-seeded North Carolina, and Purdue then beat Hawaii and Jacksonville to reach the finals.

Utah, which finished tied for second place in the Western Athletic Conference, defeated Rutgers, Memphis State and Boston College before losing to the Boilermakers. The Utes set a NIT record with 392 points in four games.

Sunday's Madison Square Garden Crowd of 13,246 brought total attendance for the tournament to 113,489, an average of 14,186 per night.

Back to minors for Junior Kennedy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Junior Kennedy cracked three singles, one to open a seven run game winning rally for Cincinnati over the Mets Sunday, but he's headed for the minors despite his .533 spring batting average.

Kennedy's one-out smash off loser Bob Miller, was followed by four more plus a three-run double by Tony Perez to give the Reds a 10-8 decision.

"He'll play in the big leagues, there's no question about it," said Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. Kennedy came to Cincinnati over the winter with centerfielder Merv Rettenmund in a trade with Baltimore.

"If I have to have an infielder, I'd take Kennedy," said Anderson.

Anderson said he plans to carry only one utility infielder—Darrel Chaney—when the 1974 season opens.

"Normally, I'd go north with two utility infielders. This year, though, I want to start out with an extra outfielder."

Kennedy a native of Arvin, Calif., will be with the Indianapolis Indians. Unfortunately for him, the Reds have Joe Morgan at second. Kennedy had a similar fate at Baltimore with Davey Johnson and Bobby Grich ahead of him.

"A few years ago you couldn't have touched him," said Anderson, recalling Kennedy was the Oriole's No. draft choice in 1968.

But Kennedy, now 23, suffered a knee injury in 1973 and still has trouble with it.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a new science series on TV that might be just the ticket for you if you're the sort of adult who feels uneasy when tots ask things like, "Who invented dirt?"

Although the "Nova" series on public TV doesn't come across with that answer, it did make a valiant effort Sunday night to explain the origins of life in a one-hour segment called "The Search for Life."

Granted, it sort of lost me amid chats on nucleic acids, "primordial soup" and "proteinoids." But at least it wasn't one of those "popular" science shows rampant in childlike generalities.

The 13-part Sunday series, which premiered March 3, isn't casual viewing. Billed as "scientific adventures for curious grownups," it demands the same intense concentration a particularly tough crossword puzzle requires.

"We don't think the series is going over anybody's head, but it does respect the viewer's intelligence," says Michael Rice, a program executive at Boston's WGBH, which produces "Nova."

The series, financed by $1.1 million in private and federal grants, covers an incredible range of topics — from nuclear fusion to a delightful study, coming up April 21, of how birds navigate.

One show, "Strange Sleep," features medical theatrics. It's a dramatization of how 19th century doctors and scientists discovered anesthesia, and their roles are portrayed by real physicians from Massachusetts General Hospital and the Harvard Medical School.

Rice says "Nova" was inspired by the British Broadcasting Corporation's successful "Horizons" science series and in fact includes seven "Horizon" programs in the current batch.

Rice said there'll be from 20 to 26 new "Nova" segments on the air next season, depending on finances.

Television blacklist charges leveled

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is there a new kind of blacklist that robs actors of jobs because they aren't familiar enough to the television public?

The Screen Actors Guild thinks that such a situation may exist, and it called a meeting this week with other guilds to discuss means to combat it.

At issue is a polling service called TvQ, which lists performers according to their popularity. On a recent listing, Lucille Ball was first with 98 per cent familiarity, Johnny Cash and Bill Cosby tied for second with 96, and Doris Day, Fred MacMurray and Dick Van Dyke had 95.

The Screen Actors Guild has heard reports that performers who place far down the list or not at all have been turned down for roles in TV movies and series pilots.

"The guild frowns on this," said president Dennis Weaver. "Such a system doesn't make sense, and to my way of thinking it's unworkable. Some of the top actors around aren't even on the list; a performer has to be put on it by the clients of TvQ."

Weaver said that guild members believe use of TvQ to be widespread in the industry. The networks deny this. A CBS programming executive said he was scarcely aware of TvQ's existence "and I doubt that it is an element in casting." CBS does not subscribe to TvQ. ABC and NBC do.

Barry Diller, ABC's vice president in charge of prime time television, commented: "I'm amazed at how these things get blown up. To utilize TvQ to cast individual actors on a negative basis would be foolish. We don't do it."

"TvQ does have a positive value. If you see someone in a subsidiary role on a series whose popularity is larger than it normally would be, you might say, 'Let's find something for him next season.' But I don't think anyone rejects an actor because of a rating."

Larry White, vice president of programming for NBC, commented: "TvQ, along with many other sources of information, is very useful in making decisions, but it is not a determining factor. We try to cast by using the best possible actor."

Gasoline prices may decrease use

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal energy chief William E. Simon says further gasoline price increases may help discourage purchases enough to reduce gasoline shortages across the nation to as little as 1.5 per cent.

Lifting of the Arab oil embargo will leave the United States with estimated gasoline shortages of 5 to 8 per cent during the rest of this year, President Nixon said at a news conference Tuesday.

Nixon ended the voluntary ban on Sunday gasoline sales but said the energy squeeze would still have to be offset by conservation measures such as car pools and lowered speed limits.

Simon told a House Appropriations subcommittee Wednesday that drawing down on gasoline inventories could reduce the shortages to about 4 to 7 per cent.

He added that gasoline prices possibly rising as high as 70 cents a gallon could help discourage consumption and thus shrink the shortages to the range of 1.5 to 3 per cent.

Last week the average price for regular gasoline was about 53 cents a gallon, up from an average of 39 cents in 1973.

Gasoline shortages in February and March have been figured at about 17 per cent — resulting in long lines at service stations in many areas and emergency allocations late last month by the Federal Energy Office.

The FEO on Wednesday revised its March allocations, giving nine states additional gasoline supplies. All other state allocations remained unchanged. The increases, totaling some 1.2 million barrels, are to be drawn from oil company inventories of more than 200 million barrels.

Percentage increases for the nine states are: Alabama, 1 per cent;

Ohio Perspective

Distaff kingmaker busy again

By PERRY SMITH

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Shirley Fletcher began her career as a political campaign manager in the 1968 presidential race.

This year the 38-year-old Mt. Vernon mother of four, wife of the Knox County dog warden, is concentrating on a congressional campaign not even in her district.

"You might say I started at the top and worked myself down," she chuckled.

In 1968 she was chief recruiter and organizer of a movement to make former Gen. Curtis LeMay president of the United States.

In 1974 she is political advisor for Don Gingerich of Franklin, an Independent candidate in the 8th district in southwestern Ohio.

But, one thing the jobs have in common. Mrs. Fletcher is campaigning for a conservative.

Gingerich, like LeMay, is a conservative Republican. He formerly managed the campaigns of state Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown. Lukens is a former two-term congressman and former president of the National Young Republicans Club.

LeMay ended up as vice presidential running mate of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

"I voted for Wallace in 1968 and I would again if he runs," said Mrs. Fletcher. "I won't say we won't have LeMay back again, but I'm waiting to see what Wallace does."

Mrs. Fletcher, who is doing little active campaigning in the eighth district, still retains the enthusiasm that had her pioneering in the attempt to put LeMay in the White House. She proudly points out Gingerich is author of a book, "No Prize for Second Place."

"I like him and I like his ideas," she said. "He's got basically the same philosophy that I have. I'm not doing much in the campaign but giving advice."

Mrs. Fletcher pictures herself as "a moderate conservative, mostly middle of the road, leaning a little to the right."

Among her many activities is painting, a talent that originally involved her with the LeMay family. She did a painting of the general's father, Irving, a one-time steeplejack.

"His wife didn't like it and said she didn't want it in the house," Mrs. Fletcher recalled. "She said it was a perfect likeness and having one in the house was bad enough."

Being a mother of four hasn't hampered Mrs. Fletcher, even in the LeMay effort.

"I recruited the kids that were old enough for the campaign and then I let LeMay's mother hold the one that was only seven months old at the time," she said.

Youth Activities

SILLY STITCHERS 4-H
The 4-H activities for March of the Silly Stitchers Group at Jeffersonville Elementary were as follows:
The meeting are held at the United Methodist Church in Jeffersonville. On March the 5th Pam Pitzer our president called the meeting to order. Crystal Cave led the pledge to the flag and Lana Robinette led the 4-H pledge. Seven members answered roll call by giving their favorite song.

Crystal Cave gave a very good report on "Your Teeth and How They Affect your Appearance". She also passed out pamphlets on taking care of your teeth.

Jo Ann Kingery gave a safety report on the "Do's and Don'ts with Pointed Objects".

We had a work session on how to measure yourself to select the right size pattern.

Some of us learned how to straighten material while the other members worked on pinning a pattern on material.

Refreshments were served by Jo Ann Kingery and Nancy Farmer for Trisha Dennewitz who was absent.

Deneen Steen had a game "What's in the Box", which caused a lot of laughs and discussion.

Becky Payton was a guest at our meeting.

The March 19 meeting was called to order by our president. The 4-H pledge was led by Nancy Farmer and the pledge to the American flag was led by Pam Pitzer.

Two members joined today. They are Becky Payton and Tonya Hodge.

The health report was given by Crystal Cave. She gave a talk on "Where and Why We Need Clean Water." Pamphlets were passed out to be filled out and returned next meeting.

We corrected our 4-H Pledge to add "My World" to the end of the Pledge.

Lana Robinette had a demonstration on laying a pattern on material.

We were shown how to use a "tracer."

Refreshments were served by Deneen Steen.

Recreation was also by Deneen Steen, "Crayon Artist."

Annette Cowden, reporter

TRIPLE R RUSTLERS 4-H
The meeting of the Triple-R-Rustlers 4-H Club was called to order by Sherri Graf, president.

Pledges were led by Lisa Perrill and Doug Mace. Roll call was taken and the Secretary and Treasurer reports given by Marisa Stuckey and Jeff Smith.

Final plans were made for the Easter egg hunt. Members were told that delivery of their 4-H jackets would be in about 4 weeks.

Mrs. Greene told everyone that there would be no officers and advisors conference or advisors training meetings held this year due to the energy crisis.

The following reports were given: Jeff Smith, History of The Quarter Horse, Sherri Graf, Showing A Horse at Halter, Darla Krupla, Caring for Your Tack and Barn and Home Improvements, Ross Emrick, What is a Smile (Health), and Mike Ferguson, Bicycle Safety (Safety Report with questions and answer period).

Demonstrations were given by: Jan Mossbarger, Parts of the Bridle and Cheryl Emrick, Use Good Horse Sense in Feeding.

President Sherri Graf introduced guest speaker, A.F.S. Student Sheila Gordon from South Africa. Sheila showed slides of her country, family and home and there was a question and answer period with members.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served.

Tami Welsh, reporter

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS 4-H
Projects of the members was the topic of discussion when the Happy Homemakers 4-H Club met at the town hall in Buena Vista. Each member decided what she would be taking for a project this year and Mrs. Virgil Hardman, adviser, gave project books to each one.

Due to illness and school activities, members decided to postpone election of officers until the next meeting when more members would be present.

Mrs. Hardman outlined some of the things she would like to see the club participate in this year including community service. Also money making projects and recreation suggestions were discussed.

Refreshments at the next meeting are to be served by Troilee McNeal.

Jo-Retta Brown, reporter

CRAFTY CRAFTSMEN
Danny Mongold called the meeting of the Crafty Craftsmen to order with Danny Merritt giving the roll call and everyone was present including two new members.

Eric VanZant announced there will be $1.00 dues for each member and adviser. This will help pay for a swimming party later this summer.

Doug Merritt read minutes of the last meeting and announced the new officers.

The group will take a tour of the Fire Dept. or Sheriff's Dept. soon, and Robert Redman gave a talk on health entitled "Body Hygiene."

The group will meet again on Monday.

Dwight Merritt, reporter

TRAIL BLAZERS
The final meeting of the Trail Blazers Veterinary Science Club was called to order by Pam Thompson. Roll call was made by Cheryl Hale. Books were received.

Refreshments were served by Phyllis and Dale Ford.

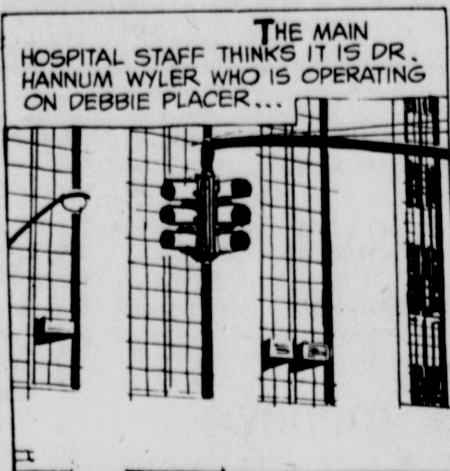

Cheryl Hale, reporter

Opening lead - queen of spades.

This deal occurred in the U.S.-Italy match in 1969. It features a striking illustration of topnotch defense.

To begin with, Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, hero of the piece, got off to the killing lead when he chose the queen of spades as his first shot. Without a spade lead the Italian declarer would have made at least four notrump by establishing dummy's diamonds, but with it South found himself fighting an uphill battle.

Declarer ducked the spade but was forced to win the continuation in dummy with the king. A diamond to the queen lost to the king and Lazard thereupon returned a spade to the ace, leaving dummy with no entry for the diamonds.

Declarer played a club to the queen, which held, and led a second diamond, won by Lazard with the ace. Lazard exited with a club to South's ace, at which point this became the position:

Declarer now cashed the A-K-Q of hearts, hoping to put West on lead with a fourth round of hearts and compel him to yield the last two tricks to dummy.

But on the A-K-Q of hearts Lazard played the 5-10-J in that order, and when declarer then led the seven he found himself the unwilling winner of the trick. So Lazard prevailed in the end and South had to yield the last two tricks to East to go down one.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Cystic Fibrosis and Genes

There is a history of cystic fibrosis in our family. There were two cases in 20 years in a rather large family.

I am contemplating marriage and I am concerned about frightening my fiancée. We look forward to having children.

Mr. G. N., Ind.

Dear Mr. N.:

It is true that cystic fibrosis has a hereditary tendency. It must be emphasized, however, that the gene that carries the lung-damaging disease of cystic fibrosis must exist in both parents rather than in just one.

When only one parent has the recessive gene of cystic fibrosis none of the children will have the disease. Yet these children, free of the disease, may be carriers of the tendency.

For this reason it is most important for families with a history of cystic fibrosis to have this included very explicitly in all their medical records.

Prior to 20 years ago, a child born with cystic fibrosis had little or no chance of surviving past childhood. Due to expanded research, tests for earlier diagnosis, intensive treatment with antibiotics, and inhalation treatments now hold promise that these patients will survive, and even flourish into adulthood.

Modern advances in genetics now offer a great deal of hope in reducing many kinds of hereditary diseases. Specially trained scientists devote themselves to genetic counseling for those who suspect any hereditary medical problem in their family background.

Can a doctor or a pharmacist recognize all pills by their color and shape?

Miss L. R., N.C.

Dear Miss R.:

Thousands of different kinds of pills and capsules are manufactured by dozens of manufacturers. It is, therefore, virtually impossible for anyone to definitely identify every pill on sight.

Some of the more widely used ones are identifiable by distinct color or shape, but this is not a reliable method when an urgent need arises to recognize a particular drug.

Manufacturers have tried to set up a list of color charts so that capsules can be matched against them. Doctors, pharmacists and the Board of Health use this method when drug poisoning is suspected in an emergency situation.

To avoid possible confusion, patients now ask their pharmacists to clearly label the name of the drug, the dosage, and the expiration date.

THE BETTER HALF

By Barnes

"$12.50! But it's just for my husband!"

TOTAL LOSS — A mobile home owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nuchols, Parrott Station Rd., was completely gutted by flames Monday morning. Johnny Rogers, of Bloomingburg, a son-in-law, was attempting to thaw frozen water pipes underneath the trailer when the electric heater apparently set the trailer ablaze. Rogers came to the home to feed the family dogs as the Nuchols family was out of town. It was then that he discovered the frozen pipes. The Jeffersonville Fire Department battled the flames for over an hour in the freezing cold.

Three weekend fires probed

A barn, in which a car owned by Arthur J. Wilson, Jeffersonville, was parked, burned completely to the ground in a fire which was reported at 8:10 a.m. Sunday, to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

The barn, located on McKillip Road, was owned by Colin P. Campbell, Ohio 41-N. Firemen from the Jeffersonville Fire Department and Sheriff's deputies called to the scene by a neighbor who noticed the blaze, were able to determine the fire started in the hayloft, but the cause is still undetermined.

Both the car and the barn were completely destroyed.

Two other minor weekend fires beckoned the services of the Washington C. H. Fire Department.

The first turned out to be a trash fire set by David C. Seymour, Pearl Street, at 12:58 p.m. Saturday. Firemen extinguished the fire with water. There was no damage or loss and the fire conflicted with an Ohio Environmental Protection Agency burning code the city of Washington C. H. has adopted.

The second fire resulted in $100 damage to a car owned by D. R. Junk, CCC-Highway-E, at 10:40 a.m. Sunday.

The fire is believed to have been started by a lit cigarette. Junk had no insurance.

Milk money

but the milk producers blame the computermail outfit.

Coop officials originally claimed they wanted to share costs of the lists so they could have access to them for possible future use in case they entered the insurance business, according to a report to the board by lawyer Edward L. Wright, a former American Bar Association president. This might have established a legitimate business purpose for the corporate payments.

But the coop never dealt in insurance and never used the computer lists, Wright reported.

The Wright report also says the cooperative paid the $750 monthly salary of Mrs. Betty Clement Bullock, who worked at the Mills headquarters in Little Rock, helped promote a Mills appearance at an Iowa farm rally, and later worked at the Mills headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Also paid by the milk producers was Joe P. Johnson, who was an advance man for Mills. His salary wasn't specified.

The report didn't estimate the total salaries paid for Mills' work. But it said the coop paid a total of $5,411 in rent on the Washington apartments for Johnson and Mrs. Bullock, for their leased furniture, and for a lump sum settlement to end the rental arrangement at the end of January 1972. Mills announced his active candidacy Feb. 11, 1972, after months of saying that he was merely available for a draft.

Two injured on snowy highway

An unexpected weekend snowstorm complicated driving conditions on the county roads and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department wound up with seven accidents on their hands; one of which injured a Greenfield man and put his son in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

City police were more fortunate with two hitskip accidents and one other minor mishap.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY — 12:50 p.m. - Eight-year-old Wesley McMurrin, Greenfield, was asleep in the back of his father's station wagon when the latter, driving north on Ohio Rt. 41-S, a mile south of Wilson Elementary School, went left of center and collided broadside with the concrete endpost of a bridge railing. The car ricocheted off the endpost, spun around and banged into the concrete railing, it then continued 35 feet and stopped facing south in the northbound lane.

The boy and his father were brought to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance. Paul A. McMurrin, 40, was treated for scalp lacerations and released. His son was transferred to Children's Hospital where he is listed in poor condition with head injuries.

Patrol checks four mishaps

Icy roads resulted in four accidents investigated by Ptl. Loren L. Butcher, of the Ohio Highway Patrol, this weekend, including two accidents Monday morning on CCC Highway-E near Bloomingburg - New Holland Rd.

Dianne Roberts, 29, of 209 N. Fayette St., was treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital for lacerations of the head when she was thrown from her car during the first of the two accidents at 6:35 a.m. Monday.

She was following a car driven by Jacklyn Hensley, 27, of 224 Highland Ave., while eastbound on CCC Highway-E. The driver of the car ahead lost control of the vehicle on the icy road.

Ms. Roberts struck the other car and was cited for failing to maintain an assured clear distance. There was extensive damage to both vehicles.

The Washington C. H. Fire Department was summoned to flush gasoline off the roadway.

A half hour later Kathryn K. Blain, 49, Columbus, stopped at the scene of the accident and the car following her slammed into the rear of her car. Carson L. Carter, 22, of 358 Ely St., driver of the other auto was cited for failing to maintain an assured clear distance. There was moderate damage to the vehicles.

Sunday morning, cars driven by Edward L. Washington, 25, Cleveland, and Renni R. Ridgeway, 20, Uniontown, lost control on I-71 and received minor damage when they struck roadside markers.

Aussie leader pelted by debris

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam was pelted with debris, punched and kicked during a wild election rally here today. He was shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

A half-full soft drink can hit him on the back of the head, and Whitlam, redfaced and visibly shaken, called back at the crowd, "Cowards! Cowards!"

Whitlam described the rally as "vicious and ugly," the worst in his career.

A crowd of about 7,000, mostly farmers who had driven hundreds of miles, booed, jeered and repeatedly hurled missiles at Whitlam as he tried to address them.

Whitlam was in Perth to support the Labor party candidates in the state election March 30.

POLICE

SATURDAY — 10:48 p.m. - A minor accident occurred in Frisch's parking lot, Clinton Avenue, involving cars driven by William H. Alspaugh, 19, Sedalia, and Dustin A. Ruth, 17, New Holland.

6:42 p.m. - A car owned by Mansfield J. Fabin, Greenfield, was struck by an unidentified driver while it was parked on the west side of Main Street, near the Court Street intersection.

9:36 p.m. - Two parked cars, belonging to Earl Leasure, 607 Willard St., and Mary Maddux, 703 Willard St., were struck while they were parked in front of the respective residences, by a hitskip driver, moderate damage to both.
